Decision No. 2/87

Reference No. IND 23/86

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the COMPTROLLER OF CUSTOMS for a decision in respect of the following publication: Face to Face No. 1 to 20. Published by Marshall Cavendish:

Chairman: Judge R. R. Kearney.

Members: Mrs H. B. Dick, Mrs R. Barrington, Mr A. J. Graham and Ms K. Hulme.

Hearing: at Wellington on 3 December 1986.

Appearances: Mr G. F. Ellis on behalf of the publishers and distributors, Mr P. J. Eggleton for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

THESE publications were part of a commercial shipment imported by airmail through the Port of Auckland in August 1986. The publications were seized by the Collector of Customs at Auckland and referred to the Tribunal for classification.

As the tribunal understands the matter, the publishers and distributors very responsibly imported these publications in this way in order that they should be referred to the tribunal for classification.

In his submission on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, Mr Eggleton advised the tribunal that, in his opinion, the books were presented in a serious and respectable fashion and were clearly of an informative nature and were not designed to exploit prurient interest. Evidence was called by Mr Ellis from Doctor Graham Paul Davidson, a clinical psychologist and university lecturer. That evidence was of considerable help to the tribunal. Mr Ellis informed the tribunal that parts 1 to 20, which the tribunal had to consider, were part of a 96 part series which was to go on sale on a weekly basis.

The tribunal finds that the publication is indeed a serious publication, in many ways similar to the publication Man and Woman, which received a classification of indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years except when they are being advised by parents or professional advisers. The tribunal finds that the 16 year age restriction should apply to these publications parts 1 to 20 and accordingly classifies each of the 20 parts as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years.

Dated at Wellington this 20th day of March 1987.

R. R. KEARNEY, Chairman.

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application by the BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF NEW ZEALAND for a short-term broadcasting authorisation to broadcast Sports Roundup (Radio New Zealand):

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Member: Robert Boyd-Bell.

Hearing: 5 February 1987.

Counsel: B. Hudson for Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand, B. H. Giles for Independent Broadcasters Association.

DECISION

The Application

The Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand applied for a short-term broadcasting authorisation for a series of broadcasts on AM stations 1YC, 2YC, 3YC, 4YC and 4ZG. The application also sought authorisations for short-term broadcasts on other non-commercial (or National Radio) transmitters which relay excerpts of Sports Roundup in areas not well covered by the YC transmitters. The periods sought were from 1 December 1986 to 1 November 1987.

There were two main aspects to the application.

The first related to Sports Roundup as an established programme format of summer sports broadcasting centred on cricket but covering a wide variety of sport principally by direct broadcasts from venues and usually with specialist commentary.

The second was for a winter sports version which had not previously been attempted.

It should be noted that Sports Roundup is one of two major exceptions to the programme pattern of the YC stations. Generally they broadcast the Concert Programme, a non-commercial serious programme of fine music and some spoken material which has a small but devoted following. The other exception is parliamentary broadcasts which are broadcast by 2YA Wellington, but because of daytime coverage limitations are during the day relayed in Auckland and Dunedin by the YC stations, supplanting the Concert Programme.

In its application the BCNZ pointed out that in a Ministerial statement of Government policy published on 14 August 1985, the tribunal was notified that Government policy was that "following the conversion of the Concert Programme to FM, the YC-AM stations should, except when they are broadcasting the proceedings of Parliament, be permitted to broadcast advertising programmes."

The corporation said it was committed to a conversion programme subject to tribunal hearings and decisions. However the corporation did not then state (although it was later confirmed in evidence) that it would not proceed with YC-FM coverage in specific areas unless it obtained parallel ZM-FM warrants.

The effect of the present application would be to permit advertising on YC stations during Sports Roundup without the prior qualification of converting all YC transmitters to FM, as envisaged by the Ministerial policy of 14 August 1985.

1YC and 4YC have not been "converted" to FM. The Concert Programme FM transmitters in Wellington, Christchurch, Waikato, Hawke's Bay and Manawatu do not carry Sports Roundup or Parliament, being separately authorised by the tribunal to continue a music programme.

The extent of the proposed Sports Roundup programmes would vary. During the summer the hours would be between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. with occasional extensions to 10 p.m. Winter hours would be shorter, usually 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. or 7 p.m. but all the times could vary according to the start times of national championships. The number of days on which each programme would occur would vary according to the scheduling of sporting events including overseas tours. The maximum number of hours which were sought for 12 months was 2744.

The Broadcasting Corporation had also applied for a short-term broadcasting authorisation for a period of up to 28 days from the end of December to the end of January. The tribunal declined that application but set down this application for a longer series of broadcasts for a hearing on 5 February 1987.

Background

The BCNZ previously applied for advertising to be permitted on Sports Roundup and this had been dealt with by the tribunal in 1981 (decision 16/81) and had been declined for the reasons set out in that decision.

Subsequently the corporation applied for permission to broadcast advertising on the YC stations both in Sports Roundup and the Concert Programme.

In 1984 (decision 16/84) the tribunal granted the application by the BCNZ to permit advertising on both Sports Roundup and the Concert Programme (but not for parliamentary broadcasts) for a limited period of 5 years and on certain conditions. The purpose of that application was to provide revenue for the corporation to accelerate the establishment of VHF-FM transmissions of the Concert Programme to a number of areas in New Zealand progressively.

In its 1981 report on FM broadcasting the tribunal recommended the development of VHF-FM transmission of the Concert Programme. Transmitters were subsequently established in the Waikato, Hawke's Bay, Wellington, Canterbury and Manawatu. Decisions are pending on applications for New Plymouth and Nelson. The tribunal recommended that coverage commence first in areas which had been receiving a less than satisfactory service from the medium frequency transmitters broadcasting on AM from the 4 metropolitan centres and that had been carried into Government policy.

Later the corporation secured the support of the Government for a policy that the Concert Programme should be developed in conjunction with the development of a ZM commercial young adult FM service.

That service has been approved for Wellington, Christchurch and Palmerston North and decisions are pending for New Plymouth and Nelson.

In its 1984 decision the tribunal had actually approved the development of FM broadcasting of the Concert Programme at 9 main transmitter sites. Two (Te Aroha and Mount Erin) were granted and timetables and proposals for any simulcasting were to be filed. The corporation took the position that it was not prepared to establish Concert Programme FM transmitters beyond Hawke's Bay and Waikato/Bay of Plenty if it was not permitted commercial ZM-FM transmitters at the same centres at the same time, unless it was otherwise directed.

Applications by the corporation to convert 1ZM from its non-commercial status with limited sponsorship to full commercial status and for an FM warrant were being heard by the tribunal when the hearings were stopped by an interim injunction from the High Court sought by another party. A final injunction has restrained the tribunal from continuing the hearing unless it called for and dealt with all warrant applications for the Auckland area in a continuous series of hearings. The tribunal has not yet been able to deal with such matters in the manner laid down by the High Court because of its workload.

The present situation then is that the YC-FM Concert Programme is being broadcast on FM in the Waikato, Hawke's Bay, Wellington, Canterbury and Manawatu.

Evidence

In support of the application, evidence was given by Mr M. F. King, editor of sport for Radio New Zealand, and Mr J. G. McElwhinney, head of marketing.

Mr King described the extent of the present Sports Roundup coverage from 10.30 a.m. to 7 p.m. and he described the audience percentage share from an Auckland survey in 1986.

The 1986-87 season started on 29 December and is due to continue until 29 March 1987.

At times in the February/March months there is conflict with the afternoon session of Parliament when the House sits between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. as Parliamentary broadcasts which are heard in the afternoons on 1YC and 4YC take precedence. The present practice is not to broadcast Sports Roundup in Auckland and Dunedin on these occasions.

However, Radio New Zealand's policy was to provide ball by ball commentaries on cricket tests on the Auckland/Dunedin national radio stations 1YA and 4YA for the period that they clash with the sittings of the House.

With the escalation in both the quantity and quality of winter sport, Radio New Zealand proposes to introduce a winter Sports Roundup in 1987 which would allow the broadcast coverage of all major provincial and international rugby, rugby league and soccer. Although the major percentage of the games would be played over the weekend, there was a growing number of mid-week matches being scheduled.

Winter Sports Roundup would also allow improved coverage of the second tier of sport which Radio New Zealand had been unable to broadcast. This would include annual secondary school championships in the major interest codes and would give an opportunity to extend coverage to men's and women's annual hockey championships and women's netball.

Mr King explained that local stations presently broadcast certain rugby matches and these might only be broadcast in 1 or possibly 2 centres from which the teams were drawn. These broadcasts might still continue but there might well be coverage on the Sports Roundup programme.

Mr McElwhinney said the programme would work within the existing radio advertising rules which allowed for a maximum of 18 minutes per hour but that it was most unlikely that this would be reached. It was however likely that at certain times of the day such as lunchtime, there may be a higher commercial content while for the rest of the time there might be up to 6 minutes an hour of commercial and sponsorship credit references.

He considered the Sports Roundup programme would provide "a unique environmental opportunity for national advertisers" for national coverage. It would include new advertising and would introduce new advertisers to other commercial radio stations as well. The programme would not necessarily be sold to sponsors on the basis of programme rating points or advertising schedule performance analysis. He saw the programme as a "value-added opportunity" for national advertisers who would perceive it as an addition to their current level of advertising activity. He thought that some of the revenue would be drawn from "below the line" or "non-media expenditure" which might normally be spent on sponsorship. It would tie in with the sponsorship packages. Mr King mentioned increased costs compared with the figures given in evidence in 1981 both in payments to sports commentators and Post Office line fees.

Mr McElwhinney acknowledged that a local station such as 1ZB is at present able to take excerpts from commentaries in Sports Roundup for use in its commercial format and thus earn revenue. He told Mr Giles that no attitudinal research had been undertaken and that the nature of Sports Roundup was ball by ball commentaries. He was unable to explain in detail the estimated cost of $411,000 but he estimated $150,000 would be attributable to the winter Sports Roundup expanded coverage.

The IBA evidence was given by Mr B. G. Impey, executive director. Mr Impey gave evidence on behalf of private operators and the Independent Broadcasters Association. He indicated the Sports Roundup programme was one which the corporation had an established history of broadcasting as an aspect of its statutory obligations under section 17 and section 24 of the Act and it was difficult to see how advertising could be claimed as being essential to permit the continuation of the high standard of sports programmes. The IBA considered the application was motivated by a desire to achieve some revenue to the corporation.

Mr Impey said that 1ZB would take up to 3 excerpts an hour of commentaries from the YC Sports Roundup programme and was able to sell advertising in conjunction with its own sports programme.

A similar situation might well apply in other centres.

Submissions

The IBA submissions can be summarised as follows:

1. Jurisdiction—Mr Giles submitted that the mechanism for application for authorisations under section 76 to permit the origination of short-term periods of broadcast, without full warrant applications and scrutiny, did not allow the broadcasting of only advertising. The programmes themselves could be broadcast under the existing warrants and there was no need for a short-term broadcasting authorisation. An application for amendment to the warrant should be made. It was necessary to focus on what section 76 actually authorised, not what it might be desirable to have provision for the tribunal to authorise.
2. Previous decision of the Broadcasting Tribunal on Concert Programme advertising—Mr Giles submitted that the tribunal had reluctantly agreed to advertising on the YC programme for 5 years to assist in funding the YC-FM conversion. The capital expenditure justified was $5.2 million with annual expenditure costs of $600,000.
However the position had changed: there had been an increase in the licence fee; 1YC had not been converted to FM; the policy to convert the YC network as set out in the Ministerial direction had not been accomplished and the purpose of the present application was purely to derive revenue.
3. Consistency—A consistent body of tribunal decisions on short-term broadcasting authorisations authorised a pattern of special service of a total radio programme. The tribunal had been cautious about end-on-end periods of broadcast and most applications related to elements of original programming. He acknowledged that the procedure may well have been used to permit advertising on television outside normal commercial hours but he would, if involved in such an application, have objected to the practice.

4. Merits—

(a) The programme had been around since 1957, it was non-commercial in nature and the interest from advertisers was not sufficient to justify the authorisation; the existence of the programme was an acknowledgement of an obligation under the Act—subsections 17 and 24.

(b) The overall cost was insignificant in relation to the BCNZ's operations; there was no real detail given; the tribunal was asked to speculate on the costs for the winter programme and there was no final resolution of the hours and format.

(c) A significant part of the audience would listen to non-commercial stations and would get programmes with a commercial flavour. This had been proposed without any audience research and would deprive some listeners in some areas of a totally commercial-free option.

He urged that in the public interest the application be declined.

In support of the application Mr Hudson said that section 76 provides that if a qualifying organisation which was not a warrant holder applied for a short-term broadcasting authorisation to broadcast an identical format on the basis that it was to be commercial, the tribunal would have unquestioned jurisdiction. Section 76 made it clear that warrant holders had exactly the same rights as non-warrant holders. Since the previous decision on advertising on the YC stations the corporation was funding additional programmes through the Concert Programme FM stations and undertook that commitment without any licence fee increase. The fee was lifted in October 1986 by much less than the inflation adjusted figure.

Mr Hudson submitted that the broadcast would be for a finite period; that the notice and direction from the Minister of Broadcasting of 14 August made it clear that the policy of the Government was that advertising programmes should not be broadcast on the Concert Programme; the applications were consistent with that policy and with the future use of the YC-AM transmitters proposed in that policy.

The short-term authorisation procedure was used to authorise broadcast of separate programmes of limited duration originated on several of the corporation's relay stations and had been used to vary the days on which television advertising could be broadcast.

Total radio-advertising revenue was predicted to exceed $90 million in the year ended 31 March 1988 and the estimated revenue the corporation expected to achieve by the proposed broadcasts was about 0.5 percent of that. The programme was not normally broadcast in peak advertising time and by its nature was only likely to attract a limited range of advertising. If it was going to take advertising revenue from existing stations then its greatest impact would be on the corporation's other commercial stations. As there were 37 commercial radio stations in New Zealand the impact would not be at all significant on any one of them.

Legal Issues

The tribunal has previously granted short-term broadcasting authorisations to permit existing warrant holders to broadcast programmes on their usual transmitters which they would not otherwise be authorised to do. The provisions of section 76 appear to authorise the tribunal to approve the operation of a broadcasting station for periods subject to certain procedural requirements. The tribunal has looked at the overall pattern of the Act and considers it consistent with that for section 76 to enable the tribunal to authorise short-term changes to established patterns of broadcasting by existing warrant holders which would not otherwise be authorised by their warrants. It would seem to be inappropriate in the light of section 76 for the tribunal to require amendments to warrants for short-term specific periods.

The situations vary widely and it would be inappropriate of the tribunal to embark here on an elaborate review of the philosophy behind the various types of authorisations it has been granting.

It is sufficient to say that, in respect of this application, the tribunal considers it entirely appropriate to apply the same considerations as it would apply to an amendment to the warrants to permit some commercial broadcasting and, in particular, to take into account the factors set out in section 80 as well as having regard to Government policy as required by section 68.

The only difference is, of course, that the tribunal is conscious that its decision is not a permanent one and unlike a warrant could speedily be revoked if that proved necessary or desirable. It is also aware that once granted there may be a submission to grant a further authorisation or to regard the authorisation as grounds for a permanent warrant amendment.

The tribunal has been careful to set its mind against parties attempting to predispose the tribunal to permanent warrants by obtaining authorisations but this situation is somewhat different. The corporation holds warrants already and wishes to vary its programme format, which it is perfectly entitled to do. The difference is that it wishes to introduce advertising to stations with non-commercial warrants.

If the merits are made out we consider the short-term broadcasting procedure, provided we apply the same principles as we would apply to an application for amendment to the warrant (except as regards the impermanence of the proposal) has a number of advantages in accepting and dealing with an application over dismissing it and requiring an application for amendments to the warrants to be filed:

- (a) The tribunal can fix the period.
- (b) The period is a finite one.
- (c) There is an opportunity to gauge actual public reaction rather than rely on predictive research as to responses of the audience.
- (d) The tribunal can revoke the authorisation at any time.
- (e) The tribunal can ensure that the spirit of the application is adhered to.
- (f) The tribunal can decline to grant any further such applications.
- (g) The tribunal can itself have an opportunity to hear the programmes and actual broadcasts.
- (h) Rights of appeal are not affected.
- (i) An application granted for an amendment may be difficult to revoke or amend as the Act stands.
- (j) If further applications were made the tribunal could from time to time consider new conditions, impose new requirements and establish a closer adherence to the conditions of its approval. In the case of an amendment to a warrant such new terms or conditions would have to be "necessary in the public interest", not merely desirable.

Government Policy and FM Broadcasting

The tribunal then came to consider the application in the light of statements of the general policy of the Government in relation to broadcasting.

It had clearly been contemplated that, when the programme of conversion of YC-AM stations to FM had been completed, the YC-AM stations would be permitted to carry advertising, except during Parliamentary broadcasts. 1YC and 4YC have not been converted to FM.

The tribunal is considerably concerned about the slow development of the FM Concert Programme coverage to Auckland which was authorised in 1984 and which the corporation has declined to carry out because of its own policy of requiring the establishment of a fully commercial 1ZM-FM programme in Auckland before it would commence a Concert Programme FM service.

The tribunal accepts that the corporation has applied for the changes to 1ZM and it has not been possible to continue with the hearings for reasons that relate to the tribunal's workload and the procedural requirements of the High Court order.

A close examination of the statements of Government policy clearly indicates that there is nothing in that policy to prevent the corporation from extending the Concert Programme FM service to Auckland.

In a notice to the Broadcasting Corporation on 14 August 1985, the Minister stated it was part of the general policy of the New Zealand Government in relation to broadcasting:

- "(1) (e) That the young adult programme currently broadcast on the ZM-AM stations should be broadcast from FM stations in such a manner that the programme becomes available progressively throughout New Zealand in conjunction with the extension of the Concert Programme."

In pursuance of that general policy in paragraph (3) the Minister directed the corporation:

- "(c) Whenever you are authorised to establish a commercial FM broadcasting station, seek to establish at that location, before its establishment or contemporaneously with its establishment, where practicable and where authorised by the tribunal, a FM broadcasting station or a FM broadcasting relay station for the broadcasting of the Concert Programme."

In a concurrent notice to the tribunal the Minister informed the tribunal that it was part of the general policy of the Government in relation to broadcasting:

- "(1) (e) That the young adult programme currently broadcast on the ZM stations should be broadcast from FM stations in such a manner that the programme becomes available progressively throughout New Zealand in conjunction with the extension of the Concert Programme."

The reference to extension is important. It refers to a previous statement of Government policy dated 27 October 1981 in which, in paragraph 2, it was said to be part of the policy:

- "(c) That the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand should, by the use of frequency modulation (FM) broadcasting, extend its Concert Programme to provincial areas in which radio reception of that programme is not at present satisfactory; and
- (d) That the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand should, as its resources permit, progressively convert the YC stations (which are the stations from which its Concert Programme is transmitted) to frequency modulation (FM) broadcasting."

So the Government policy established in 1985 was that where the corporation was authorised to introduce a commercial ZM-FM service it should ensure that there was a Concert Programme relay station also established. It also provided that the young adult programme currently broadcast on the ZM stations should be broadcast from FM stations so that it becomes available progressively throughout New Zealand in conjunction with the extension of the Concert Programme.

The Concert Programme is already broadcast in Auckland and Dunedin and so the Government policy strictly does not involve the establishment of the ZM-FM station in Auckland or Dunedin before a Concert Programme relay station can be established on FM in those centres.

The tribunal is faced with a warrant holder which seeks substantial additional revenue having indicated at earlier hearings that it had sums committed to the development of the YC-FM programme from its own resources. Those funds are not now being made available unless the corporation receives commercial ZM-FM approvals.

As far as this tribunal is concerned, the corporation has never detailed an economic or financial basis for the linking of the two. Indeed, at the Palmerston North hearings, it became clear that there was no close economic correlation between the income earned by the ZM-FM service and any surplus generated by it and the costs incurred in the establishment or maintenance of the FM Concert Programme.

On that basis it is simply not possible to say that the corporation is unable to provide the FM Concert Programme service to areas including New Zealand's largest population centre. We note with grave concern therefore, the failure of the corporation to meet its broad objectives under the Act in this respect. These obligations are often cited to this tribunal—in fact, repeatedly so—to justify some new service the corporation wishes to establish. There is clearly full justification for the establishment of an FM Concert Programme service in Auckland and Dunedin which require only the establishment of relay transmitters in premises and on sites already owned by the corporation.

Despite an inquiry from the tribunal when this application was first lodged, no positive response has come from the Corporation. Instead there was a clear statement that the 2 matters were not linked.

At this point the tribunal found it difficult to see how the corporation could justify the additional revenue sought other than in the sense of extending Sports Roundup to the winter, when estimated revenue would exceed the cost of this extension of the service.

However the tribunal decided that it could not legally link the 2 obligations and thus has been prepared to consider the matter free of the corporation's failure to provide a fine music programme on FM for the Auckland and Dunedin audiences.

Decision

The tribunal has determined that it will grant the application for a total of 24 weeks, the periods to be determined by the corporation but to include an element of both winter Sports Roundup and summer Sports Roundup. The tribunal expects the corporation to conduct some research to justify any application for extensions to the service.

We are prepared to receive submissions from the corporation on the appropriate periods.

The tribunal considers the new programme format would ideally be tried out for a reasonably sustained period.

The tribunal has however been considerably concerned about the implications for the relays through National Programme transmitters. These stations are clearly non-commercial and during Sports Roundup would be carrying programmes of a commercial kind. Generally the listeners would not have an opportunity to tune to an alternative non-commercial service.

On the other hand we accept that for many of those listeners the intrusion of the Sports Roundup is a signal to switch off the radio. Those who would enjoy the music and talk of the National Programme could either decline to listen to the radical change to cricket and other sport or would be inclined to accept the commercial content of that sports coverage.

While we accept that there will be cricket purists who still consider that a cricket commentary cannot possibly have commercial references in it, we believe the climate has changed sufficiently to experiment with some commercial content. In particular the commercialisation of sport generally and cricket on television has clearly been accepted by the community and there is scarcely a sports event today that is not sponsored.

References are made to the names of these sponsors in both commercial and non-commercial broadcasts and on commercial radio. As an example, there seems to be little justification for refusing to allow an oil company to broadcast some advertisements in the cricket series coverage when the oil company's name is used over the air in the name of the series.

However, the tribunal is open to a reaction for the public and would welcome reaction when the broadcasts actually take place.

The tribunal also accepts that the availability of the service is a service to advertisers, a factor of which the tribunal should take some account.

The tribunal is concerned about the occasions on which, through the broadcast of Parliament on 1YC and 4YC, there might be extended commercial Sports Roundup coverage on 1YA and 4YA transmitters. There would then be no non-commercial music programme available in Auckland and Dunedin. This could be overcome by the provision of FM transmitters for the relay of the Concert Programme.

However, the tribunal prefers to see what actually occurs and how a number of these matters are dealt with in practice.

We emphasise that a good deal of the success or otherwise of these broadcasts will depend on how the commercial content is handled. Care should be taken to ensure that it is compatible with the type of sports coverage that is being given.

The tribunal is anxious that this programme should not be changed into something more comparable with the commercial sports formats to be found on commercial stations.

The corporation should therefore bear in mind that the tribunal's future attitude to these broadcasts could be considerably influenced if it appears that an overly commercial style or advertiser-driven programme should appear.

The tribunal considers the programme proposals desirable in the public interest, providing additional services to fill the needs of some parts of the audience, providing additional services to some parts of New Zealand, and to advertisers.

The economic effect will not be significant in relation to other radio stations, particularly since it is likely some of the revenue will come from budgets not presently allocated to radio advertising.

We do not consider the volume of advertising will be unreasonable but should it appear desirable a condition limiting the amount of advertising could be imposed.

The issue of advertising on non-commercial services is an important one but is confined to this specialised programme. We believe it is best to see how a trial period works out and to allow there to be some public response.

The application will be granted; the periods to be fixed on request by the corporation but not exceeding periods of 24 weeks in all.

Dated the 18th day of March 1987.

Signed for the Tribunal:

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

4. The reasons why the Kaitaia Borough Council considers it essential to take land are as follows:
  - (a) The land is designated for future road on the operative district scheme and the actual alignment has been defined by survey.
  - (b) The land forms part of a principal internal road designated on the district planning map for the express purposes of encouraging better utilisation of the northern industrial zone by subdivisions not permitted as of right by virtue of the limited road access status of State Highway No. 1.
  - (c) The council has already negotiated acquisition of Lot 2, D.P. 110311, for road beyond the said land.
  - (d) Extension of Whangatane Drive is necessary to enable plans for the relocation of a major transport depot on Lot 1, D.P. 110311 to occur.
5. The land has not yet been taken.
6. Persons other than persons who are served with a copy of this notice who wish to object must send a written objection to reach the Registrar, Planning Tribunal, Tribunals Division, Justice Department, Private Bag, Postal Centre, Wellington, by the 22nd day of May 1987.

7. Inquiries in respect of this notice may be made to the undersigned.
