

THE NEW ZEALAND GAZETTE

Published by Authority

WELLINGTON: THURSDAY, 22 OCTOBER 1987

TO ALL SUBSCRIBERS AND USERS

MESSAGE FROM THE PUBLISHER

FOR some 147 years the New Zealand Gazette has provided an effective and efficient medium for the promulgation of important constitutional announcements, administrative decisions of the Executive and a wide range of information relating to activities and departments of Government. As a result of an extensive review of New Zealand's oldest newspaper, the New Zealand Gazette is undergoing major changes.

The planned changes are significant and are aimed at improving the appearance, content and service provided by the New Zealand Gazette. The improved layout and arrangement of material will make it easier for the reader to find information. The new cumulative quarterly index will mean information retrieval can be carried out more quickly and easily. New areas of information are also planned which will enhance the New Zealand Gazette's role as an authoritative journal of constitutional record.

The single most important change will be the introduction of the new Commercial Edition. This will see notices and information currently contained under 'Advertisements' in the present Gazette being published in a new and separate format and should prove ideal to those companies and individuals requiring this information. These changes will be introduced from the beginning of November.

In keeping with Government's financial strategy, the New Zealand Gazette will be operating on a full cost recovery basis. It has already been operating on a partial cost recovery basis for a number of years and the extension of this will mean that the Department of Internal Affairs as publisher, will no longer be responsible for funding the Gazette. That responsibility will now be shared out amongst all contributors, users and subscribers. The current 'free list' to libraries and other organisations is to be abolished. New and attractive subscription packages are to be introduced to coincide with the renewal of existing subscriptions at the beginning of 1988. Full details of the new charges will be announced shortly.

Over the next few weeks, a representative from the Gazette Office will contact all major contributors of material to the Gazette, to discuss their requirements and the service that can be provided. If you need additional information to what is outlined in the attached section, please contact Mr Darryl Stevens, New Zealand Gazette Project Coordinator or the Gazette Office staff on Wellington (04) 738-699 extension 8608. They will be happy to assist.

I trust that all contributors, subscribers and users will continue to support the New Zealand Gazette.

P. W. BOAG, Secretary for Internal Affairs.
Publisher of the New Zealand Gazette.

Foreign Currency Rates

DERMINATION G6: This determination may be cited as "Determination G6: Foreign Currency Rates".

1. Explanation—(which does not form part of the determination). This determination applies where, for the purpose of calculating the income or expenditure of a person in respect of a financial arrangement denominated in a foreign currency, it is necessary to establish the rate in New Zealand currency of a foreign currency. This will be required in the circumstances outlined in paragraph 3 of this determination.

This determination sets out the approved markets, sources of information and method, to be used for determining the rate for foreign currency.

2. Reference—This determination is made pursuant to section 64E (1) (a) to (f) of the Income Tax Act 1976.

3. Scope of Determination—This determination applies where it is necessary for the purposes of sections 64B to 64M of the Income Tax Act 1976 to ascertain the value in New Zealand currency of:

- A cashflow paid or received in a foreign currency under a financial arrangement; or
- A financial arrangement denominated in a foreign currency using a method that has regard to market valuation; and
- In any other circumstances, an amount expressed in foreign currency.

4. Principle—(1) Markets in foreign currencies are approved having regard to the following criteria—

- The number of participants in the market or having access to the market;
- Frequency of trading in the market;
- The nature of trading in the market—how the rate for the foreign currency is determined and how the foreign currency is traded on the market;
- The potential or demonstrated capacity of a person or group of persons to significantly influence the market;
- Significant barriers to entry;
- Discrimination on the basis of the quantity bought and sold unless based on the risks involved or the transaction costs or economies of scale.

(2) Sources of information for foreign currency rates are approved having regard to the following criteria—

- Reliance on the sources of information by participants in the market;
 - The accessibility of the sources of information for participants in the market.
- (3) Methods of obtaining a rate for foreign currency at the end of the income year for the purposes of valuing a financial arrangement are approved if—
- The rate is obtained at the cut-off time;
 - The method for determining the cut-off time adopted by a person will be consistently applied in respect of each income year.

5. Interpretation—In this determination, unless the context otherwise requires—

- Expressions used, except the expression "income year", have the same meanings as in sections 2 and 64B to 64M of the Income Tax Act 1976;
- "Authorised Foreign Exchange Dealer" means a person named in the First Schedule to the Exchange Control Regulations 1985;
- "Contributor page" means a page of information provided by an authorised foreign exchange dealer that is displayed on a screen provided by Reuters New Zealand Limited or Telerate N.Z. Limited;

- (d) "Cut-off time", in relation to a person and an income year, means the time at the end of the income year when all financial arrangements held or issued by the person are valued in order to determine the assessable income of the person for the income year;
- (e) "Forward contract" means a contract, other than a contract traded on any futures market or a spot contract, for the sale or purchase of a foreign currency for delivery at a specified future time;
- (f) "Futures contract" means a contract traded on the New Zealand Futures Exchange;
- (g) "Income year" means—
- (i) Where a taxpayer furnishes a return of income under section 15 of the Income Tax Act 1976 for an accounting year ending with an annual balance date other than the 31st day of March, the period of twelve months ending on that balance date;

(4) Forward Contracts—Where, for the purposes of determining the income or expenditure of a person in respect of a financial arrangement, it is necessary to determine the rate for a forward contract at the end of the income year, and—

(a) Where the buy and sell points for the forward contract are quoted on a multicontributor page, the rate for the forward contract shall be the midpoint between the buy and sell rates for that forward contract obtained by reference to the multicontributor page;

(b) Where the buy and sell points for the forward contract are not quoted on a multicontributor page, but the buy and sell points for similar forward contracts of shorter term ("the shorter contract") and of longer term ("the longer contract") are quoted on a multicontributor page, then the rate shall be the rate obtained by reference to the multicontributor page using straight line interpolation of the midpoints between the buy and sell rates for the shorter contract and the longer contract which have terms closest to the term of the forward contract;

(c) Where the rate cannot be obtained by reference to points on a multicontributor page and where the rate for that forward contract is available by reference to contributor pages, then the rate shall be the arithmetic mean of the midpoints of not less than 3 buy and sell rates for that forward contract obtained from contributor pages;

(d) Where the rate cannot be obtained by reference to paragraphs 6(4)(a) to (c) of this determination, the rate shall be the arithmetic mean of not less than three rates being any of—

(i) the midpoints of the buy and sell rates quoted for the forward contract by one or more authorised foreign exchange dealers, or

(ii) Where the points for similar forward contracts of shorter term ("the shorter contract") and of longer term ("the longer contract") are quoted on a contributor page, then the rate shall be the rate obtained by reference to the contributor page using straight line interpolation of the midpoints between the buy and sell rates for the shorter contract and the longer contract which have terms closest to the forward contract.

(5) A person applying paragraphs 6(3)(a) or 6(4) of this determination may obtain the rate for a spot contract or forward contract using the method prescribed in those paragraphs at any time on the last day of the income year:

Provided that—

(a) The rate applied is the rate obtained at the cut-off time in relation to the person and the income year; and

(b) The method for determining the cut-off time adopted by that person is consistently applied in respect of each income year;

Provided further that where there is no market at the cut-off time, the rate shall be—

(c) The rate obtained at the later of—

(i) The end of trading in forward contracts or spot contracts by that person in the income year;

(ii) 3.00 p.m. New Zealand Time on the last day in the income year on which there was a market; or

(d) The rate for the earlier of—

(i) The commencement of trading in forward contracts or spot contracts by that person in the following income year;

(ii) 7.30 a.m. New Zealand Time on the first day in the following income year on which there was a market.

7. Example—

This is an example of the application of the averaging process and straight line interpolation required for certain forward foreign exchange contracts under the determination.

On its balance date of 30 June 1987 a New Zealand corporate had a forward foreign exchange contract for delivery of $1.2 million New Zealand Dollars for $612,000 United States Dollars on the 1st of August 1988.

The contract therefore is to be fulfilled in approximately 13 months time.

At the balance date the foreign exchange quotations for the New Zealand Dollar against the United States Dollar were (from the multicontributor page ASAP on the Reuters system):

	Buy	Sell
Spot Rate	0.6095	0.6100

Also at that date the quotations of forward foreign exchange points for the United States Dollar against the New Zealand Dollar by three market participants were (as provided on their Reuters screens):

FORWARD POINTS:

FX DEALER 1:
Delivery in 1 year	585	555
Delivery in 2 years	1030	960
FX DEALER 2:
Delivery in 1 year	580	530
Delivery in 2 years	1040	970
FX DEALER 3:
Delivery in 1 year	575	540
Delivery in 2 years	1035	965

Note that to obtain the forward rates the forward points need to be subtracted from the spot rate.

The mid-rates for use in the interpolation formula are therefore:

	Buy	Sell	Mid-Rate
Forward Rate:
FX DEALER 1:
Delivery in 1 year	0.5510	0.5545	0.55275
Delivery in 2 years	0.5065	0.5140	0.51025
FX DEALER 2:
Delivery in 1 year	0.5515	0.5570	0.55425
Delivery in 2 years	0.5055	0.5130	0.50925
FX DEALER 3:
Delivery in 1 year	0.5520	0.5560	0.55400
Delivery in 2 years	0.5060	0.5135	0.50975

The arithmetic mean of the midpoints of the forward rates is calculated to be:

Delivery in 1 year	0.55366
Delivery in 2 years	0.50975

A suitable formula for straight line interpolation to obtain the required rate is:

$$\text{So } P_x = P_1 + \frac{(T_x - T_1)}{(T_2 - T_1)} * (P_1 - P_2)$$

P_1 is the mid-rate for the forward contract with the shorter term (= 0.55366).

P_2 is the mid-rate for the forward contract with the longer term (= 0.50975).

P_x is the required rate.

T_1 is the term till delivery (expressed in days) of the forward contract with the shorter term (= 365).

T_2 is the term till delivery (expressed in days) of the forward contract with the longer term (= 730).

T_x is the term till delivery of the contract held (= 398).

The required rate is therefore calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} \text{So } P_x &= P_1 + \frac{(T_x - T_1)}{(T_2 - T_1)} * (P_1 - P_2) \\ &= 0.55366 + \frac{(398 - 365)}{(730 - 365)} * (0.50975 - 0.55366) \\ &= 0.55366 + \frac{33}{365} * -0.04391 \\ &= 0.54969 \end{aligned}$$

The current value of $612,000 United States Dollars receivable on the 1st of August 1988 is therefore $1,113,354.800 New Zealand Dollars.

This determination is signed by me on the 30th day of September 1987.

JOHN SIMCOCK, Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

Futures Market

DETERMINATION G7: This determination may be cited as "Determination G7: Futures Market".

1. Explanation (which does not form part of the determination). This determination applies where, for the purpose of calculating the income or expenditure of a person in respect of a futures contract, it is necessary to determine the price of a futures contract.

This determination sets out the approved markets, sources of information and method, used for determining the prices for futures contracts.

2. Reference—This determination is made pursuant to section 64E (1) (a) to (f) of the Income Tax Act 1976.

3. Scope of Determination—This determination applies where, for the purpose of calculating the income or expenditure of a person in respect of a futures contract, it is necessary to determine the price of a futures contract.

4. Principle—(1) Markets are approved having regard to the following criteria—

- The number of participants in the market or having access to the market;
- Frequency of trading in the market;
- The nature of trading in the market—how the rate is determined and how the financial assets are traded on the market;
- The potential or demonstrated capacity of a person or group of persons to significantly influence the market;
- Significant barriers to entry;
- Discrimination on the basis of the quantity bought and sold unless based on the risks involved or the transaction costs or economies of scale.

(2) Sources of information are approved having regard to the following criteria—

- Reliance on the sources of information by the market;
- The accessibility of the sources of information by participants in the market.

(3) A method of obtaining a price for a futures contract is approved if it is determined by an independent source and is adopted by participants in the market.

5. Interpretation—In this determination, unless the context otherwise requires—

- Expressions used, except the expression "income year", have the same meanings as in sections 2 and 64B to 64M of the Income Tax Act 1976;
- "Futures contract" means a contract traded on the New Zealand Futures market;
- "Income year" means—
 - Where a taxpayer furnishes a return of income under section 15 of the Income Tax Act 1976 for an accounting year ending with an annual balance date other than the 31st day of March, the period of 12 months ending on that balance date;
 - In respect of the income of any other person, the year in which that income has been derived by him;
- "New Zealand futures market" means the market in futures contracts administered by the New Zealand Futures Exchange Limited.

6. Method—(1) The New Zealand futures markets in the following contracts are approved:

- The Five Year Government Stock contract.
- United States Dollar contract.
- Barclays Share Price Index contract.
- 90 Day Bank Accepted Bill contract.
- New Zealand Crossbred Wool contract.

(2) (a) The following source of information is approved for trading members of the New Zealand Futures Exchange and clearing members of the International Commodities Clearing House Limited—

The Statement of Open Position compiled by the International Commodities Clearing House Limited.

(b) The following source of information is approved for persons other than Trading Members of the New Zealand Futures Exchange or Clearing Members of the International Commodities Clearing House—

Advice as to the price for a futures contract given to that person by a Trading Member of the New Zealand Futures Exchange or Clearing Member of the International Commodities Clearing House which price shall be obtained from a source approved in paragraph 6 (2) (a) of this determination.

(3) Where, for the purposes of determining the income or expenditure of a person in respect of a financial arrangement, it is necessary to determine the price for a futures contract as at the end of an income year, the price for the futures contract shall be the market price for that contract determined by the International Commodities Clearing House on that day.

7. Example—The following are examples of advice as to the market price of futures contracts provided by the International Commodities Clearing House.

The futures portfolio of a Merchant Bank on the 14th day of July 1987 was 42 open 90 day Bank Accepted Bill contracts. The contracts were bought at various times over the year and related to various delivery times. The portfolio consisted of 37 buy contracts and 5 sell contracts. The market price of those contracts on the 14th day of July 1987 is as given in the following excerpts from the International Commodities Clearing House statements.

The market price at 14th July 1987 of the buy contracts is 83.77 and the market price of the sell contracts is 84.00.

This determination is signed by me on the 30th day of September 1987.

JOHN SIMCOCK, Commissioner of Inland Revenue.
