Submissions on Behalf of the Comptroller of Customs

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication: Roue No. 37, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45; Roue Correspondence Special; Janus, Vol. 5, No. 6, 12, Vol. 6, No. 2, 6, Vol. 8, No. 6; Derriere, No. 1; New Janus, No. 7:

Chairman: Judge R. R. Kearney.

Members: H. B. Dick, R. Barrington, A. J. Graham and K. Hulme.

Hearing at Wellington on the 11th day of September 1987.

Appearances: Mr M. Wotherspoon for Comptroller of Customs. Mr Highley the Importer.

Decision

These publications were commercially imported through the port of Dunedin on 8 March 1987. The publications were seized by the Collector of Customs at Dunedin. The importer in Dunedin and another private importer subsequently disputed forfeiture. The books were referred to the Tribunal for classification and decision prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966.

Mr Highley, who operates a bookshop in Dunedin, advised the Tribunal that he receives various publications from an agent or agents in Australia, some of which come to him unsolicited. Mr Highley did not make any formal submissions to the Tribunal and the general tenor of that which he did submit was that the publications were not likely to cause any harm or injury to the public good, that they were intended for the adult male homosexual market and that that market should have free access to this type of publication.

The Tribunal also had before it a written submission by a Wellington man who had a number of magazines—Poncho, Play Guy, Blue Boy and Man Date seized from him by Customs on his return from a holiday in Australia. This man's submission was that he failed to see how any injury to the public good could possibly arise by his private possession of these magazines or indeed by their sale to the general public over a certain age as was the case with heterosexual magazines. This man further went on to submit to the Tribunal that the availability of this relatively explicit gay material is of great assistance in the practice of safe sex and was an important contribution to the fight against AIDS. He further submitted that the suppression of such magazines could be a catalyst for anonymous promiscuous sex and invited the Tribunal to place an age restriction on such magazines.

The Comptroller of Customs, through Mr Wotherspoon, submitted to the Tribunal that some of the publications contain material of a kind which contravened the principles of the tripartite test as laid down in Decision 1054 of 18 March 1983 and in particular drew the Tribunal's attention to the excessive intimacy between the models displayed. The Comptroller was also concerned that in some of the publications a theme of bondage and/or sado-masochism was evident of a kind which in the Comptroller's submission required an unconditionally indecent classification.

The Tribunal finds it convenient to deal with these publications in different groups.

Torso

These magazines are published in New York and are clearly directed at the male homosexual market. The publications which are produced in magazine form contain a considerable amount of photographic material, mainly of the single male model, most of these photographs being of nudes with erect penis. Most of the written material, including the fiction section, is devoted towards the recounting of homosexual encounters between males. In each of the Torso publications which the Tribunal had to consider in terms of this decision there were aspects of the publications which caused the Tribunal concern. In some cases that concern has resulted in an unconditionally indecent classification, whilst in the remainder the Tribunal has given an age classification.

Torso August 1982, September 1982, February 1983 and September 1983 are each classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years. Torso, May 1983, August 1983, December 1983 and January 1984 are each classified as unconditionally indecent.

As previously mentioned, this particular publication gave considerable concern to the Tribunal and those publications which gained an R18 classification were in danger of receiving an unconditional indecent classification. Much of the written material is coarse in the extreme and many of the photographs barely escaped the finding by the Tribunal that they depicted male models in the act of masturbation. The publications that the Tribunal has unanimously found to be unconditionally indecent go past that borderline and show either or both scenes of multiple models engaged in sexual activity or single models engaged in what is clearly seen to be masturbation.

Mandate

This magazine is similar to Torso and is clearly directed towards the male homosexual market. Some of the written material in these magazines is of quite a high standard, but that which causes the Tribunal concern is that much of the photographic material borders very closely on a depiction of masturbation.

The Tribunal finds that the March 1978, January 1979 and April 1983 publications would be injurious to the younger readers and accordingly classifies each of these publications as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

The May 1984 publication, which is very similar to the other publications given the age classification, is classified by the Tribunal as unconditionally indecent. That which takes this publication past the borderline is contained in the centrefold photograph which shows a naked male with a wire tightly bound around an erect penis. The Tribunal has in previous decisions expressed its concern at similar depictions.

Blueboy, Vol. 1, No. 7

This publication which is clearly directed towards the male homosexual market contains a great deal of material which is of concern to the Tribunal. Multiple model scenes with intimacy are clearly aspects of the publication which would be injurious to the public good. The Tribunal classifies this publication as unconditionally indecent.

Blueboy September 1980

This publication, like many of the other male homosexual magazines, contains a great deal of material which is borderline, but in this particular publication an article entitled "Gay Tapes" contains material which is injurious to the public good and the Tribunal classifies that publication as unconditionally indecent.

Honcho

This magazine is also a homosexually orientated magazine, similar in format to Mandate, Blueboy and Torso. The Tribunal agrees with the submission of Mr Wotherspoon on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs that the major difference with this publication is that it has introduced the theme of bondage and/or sadomasochism to almost every issue. The Tribunal also finds that these particular magazines have a greater display of what the Tribunal considers to be excessive intimacy than do the other magazines have a greater display of what the Tribunal considers to be excessive intimacy than do the other magazines which have been given an age restriction. There is little in the way of a redeeming feature in respect of any of the magazines, and such written material as is contained in the magazines certainly can claim no real literary or other merit.

As indicated, each of these magazines are classified as unconditionally indecent.

Literature of Flagellation Parts F to N

This is a series of soft-covered books dealing with flagellation and many of the aspects of domination and bondage. The text is accompanied by a series of drawings and photographs which are generally of poor quality. The Tribunal is unanimous in its finding that these publications are injurious to the public good and classifies each part of the series as being unconditionally indecent.

Chairman: Judge R. R. Kearney.

Members: R. Barrington, A. J. Graham, K. Hulme and S. Middleton.

Hearing at Wellington on the 12th day of April 1988.

Appearances: Mr Ellis on behalf of importer of Parade Magazine; Mr Ireland and Mr Logan on behalf of Waverley Publishing Company Ltd.; M. Wotherspoon for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

These publications were part of a commercial shipment of magazines imported by Waverley International Ltd. at Auckland in November 1987. The publications were seized by the Collector of Customs and the importer has disputed forfeiture. The books have therefore been referred to the Tribunal prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. The publications Torso, Mandate, Inches and Men of Inches are all male homosexually orientated and feature photographs of nude and semi nude males with a considerable emphasis on the genitalia. Three previous issues of Torso were considered by the Tribunal in 1987 and classified as indecent in the hands of persons under 16 years of age in decision 14/87. The Comptroller of Customs submits that the current issue is of a similar standard and that a similar classification may apply. The Tribunal concurs with that submission and accordingly Torso, Volume 5, No. 12, 1987 is classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years. The publication Mandate has also been previously considered by the Tribunal and in decision 14/87 eleven issues were classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years although one issue was classified as unconditionally indecent because of the explicit content in that particular issue. Mr Ireland in his submission invited the Tribunal to consider issuing a serial order in respect of the Mandate publication and the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate that such an order issue. Accordingly the publication Mandate is classified indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years and a serial order is issued in respect of that publication in terms of section 15A of the Indecent Publications Act 1963. The publications Inches, Volume 3, No. 4, June 1987 and Men of Inches, Volume 1, No. 1, 1987 are of a kind which the Tribunal finds would be injurious in the hands of younger persons and accordingly classifies each of these publications as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

The publications Manscape 2, Premier Issue, Winter 1985 and Manscape 2, all 1986 caused the Tribunal some concern. Both publications contained items of bondage, dominations and sadomasochism and the general presentation of the models is much more explicit than those publications which received from the Tribunal an R18 or R16 classification. Both publications have illustrations depicting scenes of sexual intimacy of a kind which would in a heterosexual magazine warrant an unconditionally indecent classification. The Tribunal is satisfied that those publications being injurious to the public good classifies both as unconditionally indecent.

The publication Best of Playgirl Summer Sizzle (Summer 1987) is in comparison to many other of the girly magazines which call for a classification almost modest in the presentation of the nude female figure. There are however some aspects of the publication which in the Tribunal's view would be injurious to younger readers and accordingly the Tribunal classifies this particular publication as injurious in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years. The publication Parade is a British publication for which the Comptroller of Customs seeks a serial restriction order in terms of section 15A of the Indecent Publications Act 1963. That submission was supported by Mr Ellis on behalf of the intended New Zealand distributors Gordon and Gotch Ltd. The Tribunal is satisfied that these magazines contain material including the picture of the female nude of such a nature as to be injurious to younger readers and accordingly classifies each of these issues as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years. The Tribunal is also satisfied that it was appropriate to issue a serial order in terms of section 15A of the Indecent Publications Act 1963 in respect of this particular publication and orders us accordingly.
