CommerceRadio Regulations 1987
Telecommunications Amendment Act 1988*Statement of Government Policy Relating to Telecommunications

To the Secretary of Commerce

Whereas certain provisions of the Telecommunications Amendment Act 1988 come into force on the 1st day of April 1989:

And whereas that Act provides for the removal of certain controls on who may provide telecommunications goods and services:

And whereas the Government has announced that it intends to introduce in the House of Representatives a Radiocommunications Bill providing for the creation of property rights in the use of the radio spectrum, and enabling the allocation of those rights by the Crown:

Now therefore I, David John Butcher, Minister of Commerce, acting pursuant to regulation 13 of the Radio Regulations 1987, hereby give you notice that it is part of the policy of the Government relating to telecommunications that there should be competition in telecommunications markets and that the granting of radio apparatus licences under the Telecommunications Act 1987 should promote such competition.
