Statement of Government Policy in Relation to the Men's and Boys' Underwear Industry

To: Temporary Safeguard Authority.

Pursuant to section 6 (1) (d) of the Temporary Safeguard Authorities Act 1987, I, Philip Burdon, Minister of Commerce give you notice that it is part of the policy of the Government that:

Levels of industry assistance at the border be progressively reduced in order to encourage greater levels of international competitiveness.

In relation to apparel, this policy has been reflected in the removal of import licensing between 1 July 1989 and 1 July 1992, the lowering of the ad valorem duty on certain products and the phased reduction of specific tariffs from 1 July 1989. The Government's recently announced decision to retain alternative specific tariffs for certain apparel, including men's and boys' underwear, represents an acknowledgment that the apparel industry faces some problems relating to tariff enforcement given the difficulties in ensuring proper valuation and payments of correct amounts of duty, and in using effectively the anti-dumping and countervailing legislation. This decision did not represent, however, the intention to increase the overall level of assistance to the New Zealand apparel industry.

The determination of any injury and any appropriate temporary remedies should be compatible with New Zealand's international obligations under Australia New Zealand Closer Economic Relations Trade Agreement (ANZCERTA), the South Pacific Regional Trade and Economic Co-operation Agreement (SPARTECA) and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

Dated at Wellington this 6th day of October 1992.

PHILIP BURDON, Minister of Commerce.
