Exemption From Permit Requirement Under The Animals Act 1967 Notice (No. 5274)

Pursuant to section 13 (4B) of the Animals Act 1967 as inserted by section 3(2) Animals Amendment Act 1982, the Minister of Agriculture hereby gives notice exempting all persons from the necessity of obtaining a permit under section 13(1)(a) in respect of the importation into New Zealand from Australia of horses, asses and mules subject to the conditions listed in the First Schedule to this Notice.

First Schedule

Conditions for the Importation of Horses Asses and Mules into New Zealand From Australia for Permanent Residence

1. Permit

1.1 A permit to import is NOT required

2. Documentation

All the required certification must be presented in the forms prescribed in the Second and Third Schedules and must accompany the consignment to New Zealand.

3. Eligibility for Importation

3.1 Importation is restricted to horses which have been continuously resident in Australia or New Zealand either since birth or, if imported into Australia, are free from quarantine restrictions.

3.2 Horses may be imported into New Zealand from:

either 3.2.1 The tick-free states or areas, as defined by the individual states. Note—If the animals have left a tick area during the previous 2 months, they must be accompanied by a certificate of treatment for ticks from the border control post.

or 3.2.2 The tick area of Australia via Queensland under the extra conditions of part 2 of the veterinary certificate contained in the Third Schedule (“Veterinary Certificate”)

4. Identification

4.1 All animals must be fully identified on;

either 4.1.1 the Zoo-Sanitary Certificate contained in the Second Schedule, by brands or tattoos if so marked;

or 4.1.2 an outline diagram, giving details of any marking, scars, whorls etc; or 4.1.3 an official passport which accompanies the animal.

5. Health Testing

5.1 The required health tests and treatments are detailed in the Veterinary Certificate.

5.2 All serological and semen culture tests must be conducted at a Government approved laboratory.

5.3 Where entire males, greater than 24 months actual age return positive serological tests for Equine Viral Arteritis (EVA) they may qualify for export on the basis of negative virus isolation tests for EVA on semen or by test breeding to two seronegative mares according to the following specifications.

5.3.1 For Virus Isolation:

Semen samples must contain the sperm-rich portion of the ejaculate, not pre-ejaculate fluid or dismount samples.

No disinfectants or detergents must be used on the animals or the equipment used in semen collection. Only water must be used in the preparation of horses for semen collection.

Either a new A-V liner or one that has been washed with water only must be used for collection of semen samples. Separate samples must be collected, chilled immediately and sent by the quickest method to the testing laboratory.

5.3.2 For Test Breeding:

Two seronegative mares must be test-bred and rebled 28 days after mating—both mares should be isolated from other horses after the test breeding until being rebled and must remain seronegative.

5.4 Stallions being re-imported into New Zealand which, as part of the testing programme for export to Australia, were seropositive and virus isolation or test mating negative are exempt from the EVA testing requirements of these conditions.

5.5 The animals may only be shipped on aircraft which can carry crates or pens of a standard and type approved by the New Zealand Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries (“Ministry”), MAF Quality Management Services (“MAF Qual”) and/or the Australian Department of Primary Industries and Energy, Australian Quarantine Inspection Services (AQIS). Crates conforming to the International Air Transport Association (IATA) or Australian Marine Orders are the minimum acceptable standard.

5.6 Horses of New Zealand origin visiting Australia must fully comply with the requirements of these import conditions in order to be eligible for re-entry into New Zealand.

6. Entry Conditions

6.1 Details of transport and arrival times must be supplied to the MAFQual Port Veterinarian at the port of entry not less than 7 days in advance of importation.

6.2 A permit to land will be issued only if the animals are healthy on arrival and the documentation is in order.

6.3 The importer must keep records and be able to identify the location of the imported horses for a period of fourteen (14) days after their arrival in New Zealand.

6.4 During this period the importer may be requested to confirm the location of the imported animal/s. The horses may be inspected by a Ministry Inspector appointed under the Animals Act 1967.

6.5 Any suspected infectious disease or death occurring during this post-arrival period must be reported to a veterinary practitioner and a MAFQual Veterinary Officer.

PLEASE NOTE

The attached health conditions have been agreed as being suitable for trade between the Exporting and the Importing countries. It is expected that the animal/s being shipped will meet the conditions in every respect.

Occasionally it is found that, due to extenuating circumstances, the animal/s do not completely comply with the requirements. In such cases applications for dispensations will be considered and issued at the discretion of the Ministry, but only if the following information is forwarded by the certifying Government's Veterinary Authorities:

1. which clause/s of the health requirements cannot be met and how this has occurred; *

2. the reason the animal/s are considered to be of an “equivalent health” status and/or what proposal is made to return the animal/s to an equivalent health status as set-out in the Health Conditions;

3. the reasons why the Veterinary Authorities believe this proposal should be acceptable to the Ministry and their recommendation for its acceptance.

Research, Science and Technology

Foundation for Research, Science and Technology Act 1990

Dr I Axford
Chairperson
Foundation for Research, Science and Technology
P O Box 12 240
WELLINGTON

Dear Dr Axford

In accordance with section 8 of the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology Act 1990, I direct the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology to allocate funds under the Ministerial Scheme "Technology for Business Growth".

The funds allocated are intended to develop, or assist in the development of, skills relating to research, science and technology, and to promote or facilitate the application of the results of research and technological developments. Annex A details the specific nature, objectives, criteria, and funding levels applying to the Scheme, and nominates the agency that is to monitor the scheme.

The Foundation is to report to me on the operation of the Scheme within two months of the end of each financial year. The report will review the allocations made under the scheme for that year, including factors such as industrial sector, ownership, firm size, level of project funding and the various sources of funding. The general character of unsuccessful bids to the Scheme should be commented on. The report should also provide an assessment of the scheme in relation to any performance measures identified for the allocation of funds on behalf of the Crown for technological innovation in the Foundation's Corporate Plan.

The Technology for Business Growth Scheme will be comprehensively reviewed after three years to assess its overall achievements.

Monitoring action by the Ministry of Research, Science and Technology shall comprise a commentary on the report provided by the Foundation.

In accordance with the Foundation Act, this notice will be published in the Gazette and a copy laid before the House of Representatives.

Yours sincerely

SIMON UPTON, Minister of Research, Science and Technology.

Annex A

Ministerial Scheme

Technology for Business Growth Scheme

The Nature of the Scheme

The Technology for Business Growth Scheme (TBG) is intended to develop, or assist in the development of, skills relating to research, science and technology and to promote or facilitate participation in the development of technologies and the application of the results of research or technological developments.

This scheme is designed especially to catalyse changes in management practices and attitudes towards technology through "learning by doing" (e.g. by part funding enterprise access to and adoption of technology). Better performing enterprises will increase the possibility of

- a sustainable and appropriate level of private sector investment in technology creation and adoption;

- enhanced collaboration between public sector research agencies and industry; and ultimately
- enhanced economic performance and employment.

In general, the scheme is intended to assist enterprises that do not use technology competently or strategically in their business activities. Furthermore, the scheme will not fund projects that enterprises would have carried out anyway in the course of their business.

Assistance will be offered in the form of ;

- part funding of the placement of scientists and technologists into companies;
- part funding joint research projects between enterprises and suitable research agencies;
- assisting enterprises to access the existing knowledge base, including that generated by the government's own investment in public good science but not exclusively; and
- assisting enterprises to establish and enhance their own research and technological capability.

Research agencies who might participate in the scheme include:

- Crown Research Institutes.
- Government Departments.
- Research Associations, and other similar organisations.
- Polytechnics.
- Universities.

The Objectives of the Expanded Technology for Business Growth Scheme

The objectives of the scheme recognise that there are too few firms strategically managing technological innovation, and there are still poor linkages between the private sector and research institutes. The specific objectives of the expanded Technology for Business Growth Scheme are to;

- encourage New Zealand enterprises (particularly those companies that are not strategically managing their technology requirements) to utilise r&d and technology as part of competitive strategy;
- encourage New Zealand enterprises to use the existing technological knowledge base where appropriate, particularly that expertise and capital created by the Government's investment over the years in public good research; and
- encourage New Zealand enterprises to establish in-house research, technological and innovative capabilities, and to integrate the use of those capabilities into their overall competitive strategies.

The scheme will aim to fund projects which will preferably result in a permanent change in the behaviour of the enterprise involved and, through commercially successful application of technology, provide an effective example or role model for other enterprises in the same industry or sector. The scheme could also demonstrate an approach to overcoming a generic problem (actual or attitudinal) with a sector or group of enterprises.

The broad criteria or constraints which will apply to all programmes within the scheme are as follows:

- The scheme will not target specific sectors, rather there will be a general requirement to ensure that the scheme spreads over a number of sectors rather than concentrated on just a few.
- The scheme will be aimed at funding initiatives which result in establishing or enhancing technological capability or capacity within enterprises, and which would not otherwise received adequate support ie funds will not support projects which would have gone ahead anyway.

- In general, user contribution of funding should be more than 50% of the cost of the project, subject to variation according to project needs. This demonstrates a credible and sustainable end-use commitment to the particular proposal.

A key element of the Scheme is that proposals should be strongly user linked and market driven. This should be demonstrated principally through the provision of user funding and the commitment of a user to take up the end product of the project. This will create an increase in private sector investment as a result and also a strong commitment to overall management of the projects supported.

To achieve these objectives, a number of interlinked programmes are to be established, to be administered by the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology.

The following programmes apply within the Scheme :

Co-operative Research Programme:

This programme is effectively an continuation of the TBG mechanism. This programme will support cooperative research between research institutions and companies including the placement of scientists and technologists in private sector organisations. It is expected that this will foster links between enterprises and research organisations with an aim of overcoming the lack of scientific and technological skills in enterprises. It is primarily designed to encourage enterprises to use scientific capabilities (particularly staff) to assist embryonic research programmes and innovation in those enterprises. Proposals can be initiated by the enterprise but in collaboration with the research organisation providing the capability;

In addition to the general criteria set out above, following additional criteria apply specifically to this programme:

- All proposals should be jointly made between an enterprise (or group of enterprises) and a suitable research institution. However the industry partner should be clearly in the lead role to ensure "ownership" of the outcome.
- Enterprises with effectively no or low levels of in-house r&d capacity or little record of r&d investment but demonstrating a commitment to a change in approach will be encouraged to apply.

Technology Joint Venture Programme:

This programme will encourage joint venture technology exploitation between enterprises and public sector science agencies to help in overcoming barriers to technology uptake. Eligible activity may include the commercialisation of technology already developed in the public sector; or the support of joint r&d aimed at further developing commercially valuable technology, which is the result of spin-offs from investments made in public good science or the development of new technology based on ideas from elsewhere.

The following criteria apply specifically to this programme:

- all proposals must be jointly made between an enterprise (or group of enterprises) and a suitable research institution;

Technology Transfer Programme:

This programme is designed to promote the uptake in New Zealand enterprises of technology contained in the existing knowledge base. The programme will include technologies or practices developed by the Government's historical investment in science in New Zealand but will extend to other sources of technology as well.

The following criteria apply specifically to this programme:

- Proposals must have the potential to achieve long term benefits to the industry sector and the economy.
- To maximise the impact of the programme across the whole economy, no single sector will be favoured (ie it is open to all sectors of the economy). To ensure this, the programme will need to demonstrate broad sector coverage.

- The programme will favour technology transfer to multiple (as opposed to single) end users. Where one-on-one technology transfer is being supported, demonstrable spin-offs must be able to occur to other similar users.
- Funding may be channelled through "brokers" (which may be CRIs, specialist firms, or industry associations) who are able to establish a credible link between the knowledge base and groups of users.
- Funding should complement and not replace current funding for technology transfer activity being made by the private sector or other Government agencies.
- Proposals should be end use driven with demonstrable links to these users.
- The programme will aim to assist in overcoming generic problems in different industry groups or sectors rather than assisting individual users or suppliers of technology on an ad hoc basis.

In-House R&D Programme:

This programme will co-fund research and technological development conducted by enterprises with no link to a public research agency with the principal aim of establishing an effective in-house research or technological capacity (ie the programme will not support the use of an established capacity with no element of extension or expansion.) This programme is intended to catalyse important elements of strategic technology management in industry through the accumulation of relevant technological skills and expertise.

The following criteria apply specifically to this programme:

- enterprises with effectively no or low levels of in-house R&D capacity, or planning to use funding to add a new dimension to existing capacity, will be encouraged to apply.

Integration of proposals

Although the programmes are separately defined they overlap to some degree, and it is recognised that an integrated approach may often be sensible. Proposals may therefore fall into more than one category and this will not be a negative factor in proposal assessment.

Funding for the Scheme

The Foundation for Research, Science and Technology will be appropriated $10.622 million through Vote : Research, Science and Technology for the 1993/94 financial year which will be disbursed to participants through the allocative processes adopted by the Foundation. Future appropriations for this Scheme will be dependent on the annual budgetary process of Government. The indicative funding split amongst the four programmes is as follows:

Programme	$ Allocated
Co-operative Research	$7,180,000
Joint Venture	$491,000
Technology Transfer	$2,460,000
In-house R&D	$491,000
Total	$10,622,000

The Foundation will have the discretion to vary this funding split by 10% plus or minus to any one programme. Variations (either cumulative or singular) of greater than 10% will require the prior approval of the Minister of Research, Science and Technology. The total funds allocated through the programme will not exceed $10.662 million in 1993/94.

Monitoring of the Scheme

Monitoring of the scheme, including the implementation of this Ministerial instruction by the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology and the extent to which the Scheme achieves its stated objectives will be carried out by the Ministry of Research, Science and Technology.

Ministerial SchemeThe New Zealand Science and Technology Post-Doctoral Fellowships*Introduction—the Nature of the Scheme*

The Post-Doctoral Fellowships Scheme will provide early career support for New Zealand scientists and engineers of outstanding talent. This may be achieved through supporting post-doctoral research by New Zealanders, locally or overseas, or by attracting back to New Zealand researchers who have recently completed doctoral degrees overseas.

The scheme will complement initiatives being undertaken by the Crown Research Institutes and the universities, and has the particular aim of encouraging top researchers to pursue careers in New Zealand.

The Objectives of the Scheme

The objectives of the scheme are:

- to bridge the potential gap between PhD and employment, maximising the likelihood that young scientists and engineers will pursue science and engineering research careers in New Zealand;

- to assist New Zealand scientists and engineers to obtain exposure to recent overseas developments which are of potential future interest to New Zealand.

Mechanisms of Support

These objectives will be achieved by the following mechanisms:

- providing support for New Zealand post-doctoral researchers to undertake approved research programmes in New Zealand institutions;
- providing support for New Zealand post-doctoral researchers to undertake a programme of research in an overseas institution, where there is a clear intention of returning to a New Zealand institution on completion of the fellowship.

Targeting of Support

The scheme will be targeted at recent doctoral graduates (not usually more than 2 years after achieving their PhD). It is expected that each individual fellowship will have a duration of two years, extendable to three years in particular cases where this is merited by the quality of the researcher or the research. Support is expected to average around $60,000 per fellowship, per year. This figure is intended to include financial support for the research itself (including a contribution to overhead costs of the host institution), as well as a stipend for the researcher.

Fellows under this scheme will be selected on the basis of their academic record, and the scientific excellence of the proposed research. Fellowships will not be specifically targeted at any discipline area, and will be tenable at Crown Research Institutes, universities, Research Associations, polytechnics, and private sector laboratories, provided the institution has the capability and the capacity for intellectual and logistical support of the Fellow.

Administration and Selection

The scheme will be administered by the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology, who may wish to contract some of these responsibilities to the Royal Society. The selection panel will comprise eminent science and engineering researchers.

As a transitional measure, which is not to extend beyond the first four selections, some of the 1993 Fellows may be selected by the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology directly, as a means of smoothly integrating their existing fellowship scheme.

Fellowships, while being awarded on a personal basis, may be granted to a host organisation to assist with the logistics of taking up the fellowship.

Funding

The Post-Doctoral Fellowships scheme will allocate $1 million per year, which would enable approximately 17 fellowships to be held in any one year.

Monitoring

The scheme will be monitored by the Ministry of Research, Science and Technology.

Ministerial Scheme

The New Zealand Science and Technology Teacher Fellowships

Introduction—the Nature of the Scheme

The Science and Technology Teacher Fellowships scheme is intended to provide excellent science and technology teachers with an opportunity to further their understanding of the role of science and technology in New Zealand's economy and society, to enhance their ability to deliver the new science and technology curricula, and to enable them to stimulate and enthuse their students, their colleagues, and the wider community, about qualifications and careers involving science and technology. The scheme will also more generally provide teachers with a period of refreshing experience outside the classroom environment. This refreshment will not only broaden experience but enable more effective teaching to be subsequently provided in the classroom.

The scheme is intended to complement existing schemes for teacher development. Accordingly the emphasis is on placing teachers in enterprises where the practical application of science and/or technology is a substantial element in the activities of the enterprise, rather than on retraining or upgrading of academic skills.

The scheme also has the aim of integrating science and technology teachers into New Zealand's new science structures. Science and technology teachers have a vital role to play in developing people with the values, attitudes, skills, knowledge and creativity that are the most important factors in ensuring that the recent science reforms yield the maximum possible benefit for New Zealand.

Although there are to be no formal reporting requirements of Fellows, it is essential that spin-off benefits to students, colleagues and the wider community be maximised. Proposals submitted by applicants must address this aim, and sufficient resources must be allocated to ensure that this aspect of the programme can be effectively achieved.

Examples of benefits expected for schools and students, enterprises and the wider community are:

Benefits to Schools and Students

- increased enjoyment and appreciation of science and technology learning by students, through more innovative and relevant teaching;
- increased student confidence in teachers who are seen to be "up with the play";
- better quality advice to students about science and technology careers;
- stimulation of other staff by visibly refreshed, motivated, knowledgeable colleagues, able to provide practical assistance with curriculum planning and classroom teaching strategies;
- ongoing relationship with enterprise, resulting in an enriched curriculum, and providing students with a stimulating, varied and relevant learning environment with a practical and applied focus, and with schools gaining a powerful network of professional support.

Benefits To Enterprise

- image of the enterprise, and understanding of its role and activities, are enhanced;
- requirements and expectations of enterprise are better communicated;
- long-term: a positive and engaged working population which can participate productively and intelligently in the science and technology-based enterprises that will be the basis for future wealth creation and economic growth of the nation.

Benefits to the Wider Community

- closer integration of school and the community;
- increased support for the school system in general, and for science and technology education in particular;
- schools are better able to respond to the needs of enterprises.

The Objectives of the Scheme

The objectives of the scheme are to enable science and technology teachers to:

- establish and maintain links between schools and New Zealand enterprises in which the primary technological activity involves the application of science;
- gain a clearer insight into the skills and qualification requirements of, and opportunities for, students moving into employment in such enterprises;
- become more effective and innovative in teaching science and technology by focusing on practical social and economic contexts, and thereby enthuse students more effectively about careers in science and technology;
- promote a culture which values science and technology in education and in enterprise, in students, teaching colleagues, the wider community and enterprise, by passing on learning and experiences gained.

Types of Activity to be Supported

A variety of programmes of different durations can be seen to be consistent with the objectives of the scheme, and considerable flexibility is indicated. Possible types of programme include:

- secondment to work in an enterprise in which the primary technological activity is the application of science. e.g. a university, Crown Research Institute, Research Association, technological industry, hospital medical physics department;
- a programme of visits to such enterprises;

- secondment to an organisation whose main objectives include liaison between schools, research institutions and industry, and/or fostering of a science and technology culture in industry and the wider community. eg Creativity in Science and Technology Programme (CREST), science centres;
- arrangement of group visits to, or seminars by, appropriate enterprises.

The duration of support is flexible, but not more than twelve months. Significant benefit is unlikely to arise from secondments of less than one school term, and sufficient time for widely disseminating the benefits of the experience must be added.

Confirmation of the acceptability of the proposal by the host enterprise will be an absolute precondition for any funding to be granted.

Targeting of Support

This scheme is aimed primarily at classroom teachers whose work is significantly related (or will be related) to the new curricula for science and/or technology. The number of technology teachers within this target group is expected to increase, once the new technology curriculum is finalised and implemented in schools. It is recognised that other teachers, for example mathematics teachers, may also be involved in fostering or supporting an understanding of science and technology through their classroom teaching, and such teachers should not be excluded from consideration. Most awards are expected to be made at intermediate and secondary level, but the value of extending this kind of experience to primary teachers should also be recognised.

Administration and Selection

The scheme will be administered by the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology, who may wish to contract some of these responsibilities to the Royal Society.

Naming of Individual (or Series of) Fellowships

The scheme will have provision for individual enterprises, or for groups of enterprises, to associate their name with a limited number of individual fellowships, or a sequence of fellowships. The conditions associated with such naming rights will be negotiable at the discretion of the Foundation for Research, Science and Technology.

Funding

This scheme will allocate $425,000 in 1993/94. It is expected that this will enable about 21 new Fellows to be appointed each year.

Monitoring

The scheme will be monitored by the Ministry of Research, Science and Technology.

General

Trust Bank Otago Community Trust Inc.

Trustee Banks Restructuring Act 1988

Trust Bank Otago Community Trust Inc.

Annual Report for the Year Ended 31 March 1993

Trust Particulars

The Trust Bank Otago Community Trust Inc. was incorporated as a charitable trust in accordance with the provisions of the Trustee Banks Restructuring Act 1988. The purpose of the trust is to provide charitable, cultural, philanthropic and recreational benefits to the community.

Trustees

Trustees are appointed by the Minister of Finance. While the initial term of appointment varies, replacement appointments are for a standard term of 4 years.

The present trustees are:

Mrs C. A. Melville, Chairperson, Mr S. E. Alexander, Mr R. R. Allan, Mr G. R. Bell, Mr J. Edgecombe, Mr P. C. L. Gibson, Mr R. M. Gray, Mrs N. S. Jones, Mr C. D. Matthewson, Dr J. Ng, Mr D. Pasley, Mr J. D. Polson, Ms H. A. Russell and Mr R. F. Walls.

Secretary: Mr K. G. Ellwood, 60-66 Tennyson Street, P.O. Box 5751, Dunedin.

Bankers: Trust Bank Otago Limited.

Solicitors: Anderson Lloyd.

Auditors: Taylor McLachlan & Partners.

Trust Bank Otago Community Trust Inc.

Trustees Report for the Year Ended 31 March 1993

The trustees have pleasure in presenting the fifth annual report of the trust. The trustees' duties, which have not changed since last year, include managing the assets of the trust and applying funds for charitable, cultural, philanthropic, recreational and other purposes, being purposes beneficial to the community generally, within the Otago provincial district. The major asset of the trust is a 13.5 percent shareholding in Trust Bank New Zealand Limited.

Donations

Donations approved during the year	1,344,918
Less unpaid at balance date	730,000
	614,918
Add prior year donations paid this year	304,000
	$918,918

The reason for some donations being unpaid at balance date is either, because certain conditions upon which the donation becomes payable are not yet fulfilled by the donee, or payment is to be spread over future years. By entering into arrangements to pay some donees over a period of years, the trust has been able to assist some larger projects in a more practical way. While payment of future years donation instalments is not legally binding upon the trust, undertakings of this nature are closely monitored by the trustees relative to the trust's projected income.

A full list of donations made during the year can be obtained from the secretary.

National Disaster Relief Fund

Our trust operates in conjunction with all other regional trust bank community trusts towards the maintenance of a national disaster relief fund. No payments were made from this fund during the year.

Review of Financial Results

While the income of the trust is slightly down on the previous year, it nevertheless continues to reflect extremely well on the performance of Trust Bank New Zealand Limited, from which the trust derives most of its income, in the form of dividends.

Trustees have been eager to further promote the role of the trust within the Otago community. There are many existing as well as new organisations who continue to be unaware of the assistance this trust can provide and so brochures have been produced and distributed to many places of public assembly to help address this situation.

Trustees consider that the affairs of the trust are sound.

Acknowledgments

During the year, the trust lost the services of two of its trustees, Mrs Helen Irwin of Cromwell and Mr Rob Mogenson, formerly of Dunedin. Their contribution was extremely valuable and sincerely appreciated by all trustees. Messrs Peter Gibson of Dunedin and Graeme Bell of Alexandra were appointed as trustees by the Associate Minister of Finance in May 1992.

The financial statements of the trust follow this report.

For and on behalf of the trustees.

Trustee: C. A. MELVILLE.

Trustee: N. S. JONES.

Dated the 7th day of July 1993.
