Notice of Intention to Remove Companies From the Register

I intend to remove the companies named in this notice from the Register under either section 293 of the Companies Act 1955 or section 318 of the Companies Act 1993, as applicable.

The grounds on which I propose to take this action are that I am satisfied that the named companies have ceased to carry on business and that there is no other reason for these companies to continue in existence.

Objections to the removal of the named companies can be made under either section 296 of the Companies Act 1955 or section 321 of the Companies Act 1993, as applicable. An objection must be in writing and specify the ground relied on. Any such objections must be delivered to the District Registrar of Companies at Nelson within 20 working days of the date of publication of this notice.

Notice of Application to Vary The Allan and Grace Kay Overseas Scholarship and The Orakau Heart Research Scholarship

M. No. 1319/94

In the High Court of New Zealand, Auckland Registry
Take notice that on the 1st day of February 1995 at 10.30 a.m., or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, the applicant will apply to the High Court at Auckland for an order approving a scheme varying the trusts known as "The Allan and Grace Kay Overseas Scholarship" and "The Orakau Heart Research Scholarship" created under the will of the late Grace Edith Meliora Kay, who died at Auckland on or about the 16th day of May 1986.

The scheme provides for the deletion of the existing paragraph (b) on page 6 of the said will in relation to both the above-named trusts, (which paragraph provides that any holder of a post-graduate research scholarship awarded under the said trusts who studies out of New Zealand must first enter into a bond with the trustees, equivalent to the contemplated total scholarship funds, to return to New Zealand within 10 years of the scholarship terminating to teach or practice for at least 10 years in New Zealand) and the substitution of a new paragraph (b) which will provide that the bond entered into requires the holder of the relevant scholarship to return to New Zealand if called upon by the trustees within 5 years of termination of that scholarship to teach and/or practice or to carry out research in New Zealand for a period to be determined at the discretion of the trustees, such period in no event to be longer than 3 years or the period for which the scholarship was held if this was greater than 3 years.

The scheme also provides the following alterations to the terms set out in clause 7 (e) of the said will: the deletion of the words "the leading heart research centre", being replaced by the words "a leading heart research centre"; and the deletion of the words "who is aged between 25 and 35 years old", being replaced by the words "who is aged between 25 and 45 years old". The scheme proposes that all reasonable expenses relating to obtaining approval of the scheme be paid out of and be a charge upon the property affected by the scheme.

A copy of the said scheme of variation may be inspected at the offices of Messrs Earl Kent, Solicitors, Fourteenth Floor, Quay Tower, corner of Customs and Albert Streets, Auckland. Any person desiring to oppose the scheme must give written notice of his or her intention to do so to the Registrar of the High Court at Auckland, to the applicant care of the above-named firm of solicitors, and to the Attorney-General, not less than 7 clear days before the 1st day of February 1995.

This notice is issued by Guy Harman Wilmot Seton, solicitor for the applicant, of the firm Earl Kent, whose address for service is Fourteenth Floor, Quay Tower, corner of Customs and Albert Streets, Auckland.

Summary of Bills Presented

This section contains a précis of all bills presented to the House this week. Not all bills presented are introduced. The introduction of a bill requires the agreement of the House.

Medical Practitioners

Consolidates and amends the Medical Practitioners Act 1968, which is consequently repealed.

Principle features of the bill are as follows:

- (a) The existing categories of registration as a medical practitioner under the Medical Practitioners Act 1968 are replaced with new categories. The most important of these new categories are general registration and vocational registration. At present, any medical practitioner who holds ordinary registration is generally entitled to practise any branch of medicine without supervision or oversight. Under the bill, this category of registration is replaced with the new categories of general registration and vocational registration.
- (b) The existing provisions of the Medical Practitioners Act 1968 relating to the recognition of overseas qualifications for the purposes of registration as a medical practitioner in New Zealand are replaced with provisions permitting the Medical Council more flexibility in this matter.

At present, the Medical Practitioners Act 1968 provides for a person to be granted conditional registration only if that person is a graduate of a New Zealand university or a university or medical school in one of certain specified countries. Graduates of universities or medical schools in other countries must apply for provisional registration and may be required to pass an examination to show proficiency in the practise of medicine and in the English language.

The bill provides a more flexible regime for the recognition of overseas medical qualifications. Instead of prescribing different registration requirements for qualifications gained in different countries, the bill provides for the Medical Council to recognise, for the purposes of registration as a medical practitioner, any medical qualification gained from an overseas university or medical school.

- (c) The bill contains new provisions to ensure that medical practitioners maintain an adequate level of competence. The bill provides for this in 3 ways:

- (i) The existing requirement for medical practitioners to hold annual practising certificates is continued, but provision is made for the Medical Council to decline to issue a practising certificate if it is not satisfied that the practitioner concerned is competent to practise medicine in accordance with his or her registration.
- (ii) The bill empowers the Medical Council to review the competence to practise medicine of any medical practitioner who holds a current practising certificate, whether or not there is reason to believe that the practitioner's competence may be deficient.
- (iii) The bill empowers the Medical Council to set or recognise competence programmes and recertification programmes.

A competence programme is designed to examine or improve the competence to practise medicine of practitioners who hold or apply for practising certificates. A recertification programme is designed to ensure that medical practitioners who hold vocational registration are competent to practise the branch of medicine in which they are registered.

- (d) The bill contains provisions relating to quality assurance activities. In general, a quality assurance activity is an activity the purpose of which is to assess or evaluate the quality of health services provided by a medical practitioner, or to study the incidence or causes of conditions or circumstances that may affect the quality of such services.
- (e) The bill carries over the existing provisions relating to the reporting of circumstances where a medical practitioner is believed to be unfit to practise medicine on account of physical or mental disability. In addition, the bill confers 2 new powers in relation to practitioners whose fitness to practise medicine may be impaired:
 - (i) The president of the Medical Council is empowered to order the interim suspension of a practitioner's registration pending further investigation of the practitioner's fitness to practise:
 - (ii) The Medical Council is empowered to order a medical practitioner to submit himself or herself for examination by another medical practitioner:
- (f) The bill restructures and simplifies the existing procedures for the disciplining of medical practitioners. The new provisions are linked to the complaints procedures in the Health and Disability Commissioner Act 1994.

Complaints against a medical practitioner will be able to be made either to the Health and Disability Commissioner or to the Registrar to the Medical Council. The investigation of a complaint may be undertaken by the Health and Disability

Commissioner or, where a decision is taken under the Health and Disability Commissioner Act 1994 not to take the matter further, by a complaints assessment committee. A complaints assessment committee will investigate cases in which a medical practitioner has been convicted of a certain offence, and complaints that fall outside the jurisdiction of the Health and Disability Commissioner.

In appropriate cases, either the Director of Proceedings (who is appointed under the Health and Disability Commissioner Act 1994) or a complaints assessment committee is empowered to lay a charge against a medical practitioner.

Disciplinary charges against medical practitioners will be heard and determined by a Medical Practitioners Disciplinary Tribunal. The Tribunal will be chaired by a medical practitioner and made up of 4 other persons (2 medical practitioners and 2 lay persons) selected from a panel maintained for the purpose.

The Tribunal will have power to suspend the registration of a medical practitioner pending the determination of disciplinary proceedings against him or her.

The bill provides for the hearings of the Tribunal to be in public unless otherwise directed by the Tribunal. As well as general provisions permitting the Tribunal to hold the whole or part of a hearing in private and to prohibit the publication of reports or accounts of the hearing, the bill contains special provisions providing for a complainant to give evidence of matters of a sexual, intimate, or distressing nature in private.

Where the Tribunal finds a charge against a practitioner proved, the Tribunal is empowered to make a range of orders, including the cancellation or suspension of a practitioner's registration, the imposition of conditions on the practise of medicine by a practitioner, a fine of up to $10,000, and a requirement to pay all or part of the costs of the investigation and prosecution of the complaint:

- (g) Appeals against decisions of the Medical Council or the Disciplinary Tribunal under the Bill will be to a District Court. There is a further right of appeal to the High Court on a question of law:
- (h) The Bill restructures the composition of the Medical Council.
- (i) The Bill empowers the Medical Council to prescribe the fees payable in respect of such matters as applications for registration, the issue of practising certificates, and the inspection of the register of medical practitioners. These fees are at present set by regulation. The Bill also continues the existing power of the Medical Council to impose a levy on medical practitioners for the purpose of funding the disciplinary procedures in the bill.
