Radiocommunications Act 1989

Statement of Government Policy and Directions to Secretary of Commerce

To the Secretary of Commerce.

Pursuant to section 112 of the Radiocommunications Act 1989 ("the Act"), I hereby give you notice that it is part of the general policy of the Government, in relation to your functions, duties and powers under the Radiocommunications (Radio) Regulations 1993—

- (a) That television services undertaken otherwise than for profit should be facilitated in the UHF range of frequencies; and
- (b) That television and radio broadcasting services that have as their primary objective the promotion of Maori language and culture should be facilitated; and
- (c) That licensing of New Zealand originated short wave sound radio broadcasting should be consistent with the foreign policy of the Government of New Zealand; and
- (d) That adequate provision should be made for licensing, in common bands where practicable, of apparatus used by Government departments or Crown agencies where such use is primarily for non-commercial public safety and security operations relating to protection of life and property; and
- (e) That there should be competition in telecommunications markets and that the granting of radio apparatus licences should promote such competition; and

- (f) That the frequency range 100–108 MHz be cleared of land mobile services so that it can be made available, by way of licences under section 48 of the Radiocommunications Act, for broadcasting services.

Pursuant to the above policies I hereby direct you as follows:

1. UHF television broadcasting—You shall not grant new radio apparatus licences for UHF television broadcasting services in the range of frequencies 582 MHz to 646 MHz, except where the granting of such licences is necessary for the purpose of—

- (a) Maintaining the services provided by existing licensees in relation to those frequencies; or
- (b) The implementation of new television broadcasting services; the primary objective of which is the promotion of Maori language and culture, where transmissions of such services are licensed for no more than 12 months. Such licences may be renewed for subsequent periods not exceeding 12 months, until a record of management rights is recorded under the Act in respect of the frequency to which the licence relates; or
- (c) The implementation of new television broadcasting services undertaken otherwise than for profit, where transmissions of such services are licensed for not more than 12 months. Such licences may be renewed for subsequent periods not exceeding 12 months, until a record of management rights is recorded under the Act in respect of the frequency to which the licence relates; or

2. Sound radio broadcasting—You shall not grant new radio apparatus licences for—

- (a) Sound radio broadcasting services in the range of frequencies 88.2 MHz to 88.8 MHz except where the granting of such licences is necessary for the purpose of the implementation of new sound radio broadcasting services, the primary objective of which is the promotion of Maori language and culture, and where transmission of such services are licensed for no more than 12 months. Such licences may be renewed for subsequent periods not exceeding 12 months, until a record of management rights is recorded under the Act in respect of the frequency to which the licence relates; or
- (b) New Zealand originated short wave sound radio broadcasting, in frequency bands below 30 MHz allocated for broadcasting in the International Radio Regulations, where such services are inconsistent with the foreign policies of the Government of New Zealand.

3. Telecommunications—(1) You shall make adequate provision for licensing, in common bands where practicable, of apparatus used by Government departments or Crown agencies where such use is primarily for non-commercial public safety and security operations relating to protection of life and property, and you may decline to grant licences in such bands where in your opinion the intended usage is not compatible with this policy; and

(2) You shall not grant, for two-frequency land mobile operation in the ranges of frequencies 472 MHz to 476 MHz and 478 MHz to 482 MHz, new radio apparatus licences for channels with bandwidths in excess of 12.5 kHz; and

(3) You shall not grant new radio licences, in respect of two-frequency and single frequency land mobile channels within the range of frequencies 100.990 MHz to 108.000 MHz.

4. Application of this notice—You shall comply with the directions set out above in relation to all applications for radio apparatus licences, including applications made before the date of this notice but not dealt with before that date.

5. Revocation of previous notices—The statements of Government policy set out in the Schedule to this notice are hereby revoked.

Reserve Bank

Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1989

The Annual Fee For Registered Banks

Pursuant to section 79 of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1989, the Reserve Bank of New Zealand gives notice that the annual fee that shall be paid to the Reserve Bank of New Zealand by every registered bank for the period commencing 1 July 1995 and ending 30 June 1996, shall be determined as follows:

[1] Interpretation—Unless the context otherwise requires:

“The Act” means the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1989.

“Annual fee” means the amount determined by the Reserve Bank of New Zealand pursuant to section 79 of the Act as the annual fee that shall be paid to the Reserve Bank of New Zealand by every registered bank.

“Category A bank” means a registered bank that is incorporated in New Zealand and which is directly or indirectly controlled by either persons ordinarily resident in New Zealand, or by persons resident overseas and not registered, authorised, constituted or licensed in that country as a bank under legislation comparable to Part V of the Act.

“Category B bank” means a registered bank that is incorporated outside New Zealand, or is directly or indirectly controlled by persons resident overseas which are registered, authorised, constituted or licensed in that country as a bank under legislation comparable to Part V of the Act.

“Holding company”:

(a) in relation to a company registered under the Companies Act 1993 means a holding company as defined in the Companies Act 1993;

(b) in relation to a company registered under the Companies Act 1955, means a holding company as defined in the Companies Act 1955.

“Risk adjusted exposures” in relation to a registered bank means the amounts calculated or derived in respect of that registered bank from information supplied or required to be supplied to the Reserve Bank of New Zealand in return No. R.B. PS1 “Return of Capital Adequacy and Off-Balance Sheet Business”.

[2] Amount of fee determined—(1) Subject to subparagraphs (2), (3), (5) and (6), the annual fee for the year commencing 1 July 1995 shall be the same as the annual fee for the year ended 30 June 1995.

(2) Where a registered bank has, during the year ended 30 June 1995, absorbed the undertakings of a subsidiary registered bank, the annual fee shall be:

(i) In respect of a Category A bank:

$$=[$20,000 + 0.00001579 \times X_{Ai}] \times 1.125,$$

where X_{Ai} = Risk adjusted exposures (expressed in dollars) of the consolidated group as at 30 June 1994.

(ii) In respect of a Category B bank:

$$=[$20,000 + 0.00000947 \times X_{Bi}] \times 1.125,$$

where X_{Bi} = Risk adjusted exposures (expressed in dollars) of the consolidated group as at 30 June 1994.

(3) Where the risk adjusted exposures of any registered bank are not derived or calculated as at 30 June 1994, the Reserve Bank may determine the date as at which the risk adjusted exposures of that bank shall be derived or calculated for the purpose of determining the annual fee payable by or on behalf of, that registered bank.

(4) The amounts determined pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph include goods and services tax.

(5) The amounts determined pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall be round to the nearest thousand dollars.

(6) Where a registered bank is the holding company of another registered bank, a separate fee will normally be charged for each registered bank. Where a separate fee is charged, and the risk adjusted exposures reported in R.B. PS1 by the registered bank which is the holding company include the risk adjusted exposures of the other registered bank, the risk adjusted exposures of the subsidiary bank shall be deducted from the holding company's risk adjusted exposures for the purpose of calculating the fee payable by the bank holding company.

[3] Period to which the annual fee relates—(1) Subject to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph the annual fee shall be payable in respect of the period commencing on 1 July 1995 and ending 30 June 1996.

(2) The amounts determined in accordance with this notice in respect of a Category A bank, or a Category B bank, shall be payable in respect of the period during which it is a Category A bank or a Category B bank, as the case may be. Where a Category A bank becomes a Category B bank, or vice versa, it shall, as from the date on which such change occurs, be liable to pay an annual fee calculated at the rate applicable in respect of that new situation.

(3) In the event that the date on which section 6 of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Amendment Act 1995 comes into force falls within the period commencing on 1 July 1995 and ending 30 June 1996, any monthly instalments that fall due after that date shall not be payable.

(4) The annual fee shall be payable in 12 monthly instalments, each instalment becoming due on or before the 20th day of every month of the period covered by this notice.

(5) Where the risk adjusted exposures of a registered bank are reduced by reason of the fact that any subsidiary of that registered bank becomes a registered bank, the fee of the first registered bank for the period after the date of registration of that subsidiary shall be recalculated, in accordance with the formula set out in paragraph [2] (2) of this notice, after deduction of the risk adjusted exposures of that subsidiary as at 30 June 1994 (subject to paragraph [2] (3) above).

RIGHT HON. W. F. BIRCH, Minister of Finance.

Explanatory Note:

This note is not part of the Notice but is intended to indicate its general effect and the basis on which the annual fee is calculated and its relationship to the anticipated costs of the Reserve Bank in exercising the powers conferred on it by Part V of the Act.

1. Pursuant to section 79 of the Act, in determining fees the Reserve Bank has had regard, in particular, to the new banking supervision regime which will take effect on 1 January 1996. Section 79 of the Act will be repealed on 1 January 1996 and fees falling due after that date will not be payable. The Reserve Bank considers that, in light of these changes and the reduced term over which the fees will be payable, annual fees should generally be charged on the same basis as for the year ended 30 June 1995.

2. However, the Reserve Bank considers that, if during the year ended June 1995, a registered bank absorbed the undertakings of another registered bank, the remaining bank's annual fee should reflect the higher level of risk weighted exposures now held by that bank.

3. The basis for the 1994/95 method of cost allocation was that the fee for individual banks should comprise a fixed element, representing a flat fee for basic supervision and policy development/maintenance, as well as a variable element which broadly relates to the intensity of supervision which different banks receive. This intensity varies according to the size of the bank and, in the case of international banks, on the allocation of supervisory responsibilities between New Zealand and overseas banking supervisors.

4. In determining fees, the Reserve Bank has regard to the costs of banking supervision. In the 1994/95 financial year, the Reserve Bank sought to recover approximately 50 percent of the anticipated cost of the Reserve Bank's banking supervision function. As fees will be determined on the same basis as in that financial year, the fees payable pursuant to section 79 and determined in accordance with this notice will recover approximately 45 percent of the anticipated cost of the Reserve Bank's banking supervision function for the 1995/96 financial year.
