Justice

Crimes Act 1961

Reference to the Court of Appeal of the Question of the Conviction of David Brian Dougherty for Abduction and Sexual Violation by Rape

MICHAEL HARDIE BOYS, Governor-General

ORDER IN COUNCIL

At Wellington this 1st day of July 1996

Present:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL

Whereas on the 21st day of May 1993, David Brian Dougherty was convicted in the High Court at Auckland on charges of abduction and sexual violation by rape and was sentenced to concurrent terms of imprisonment of four years and seven years and nine months, respectively:

And whereas no conclusive DNA evidence was obtained by the application of conventional DNA analysis in relation to the identity of the offender for the purposes of the High Court trial:

And whereas subsequent to the High Court trial of David Brian Dougherty a new technique known as DNA amplification by polymerase chain reaction (PCR) became available in New Zealand for the analysis of genetic material that may have previously been considered as being too small in quantity for conventional DNA profiling:

And whereas, following instructions from defence and prosecution counsel, this new technique was applied by Dr Peta Stringer of the Institute of Environmental Science and Research Limited to certain forensic samples obtained during the investigations into the charges against David Brian Dougherty:

And whereas the results obtained by the use of the PCR technique indicated that genetic material found on the complainant's underpants and from swabs taken from her body (being evident as signals at the location of allele 4 which were weaker than the test control dots) was derived from a person with the same genotype as David Brian Dougherty and that there was genetic material extracted from the complainant's underpants (identified as allele 3) which could not be attributed to either David Brian Dougherty or the complainant:

And whereas an application for leave to call new evidence and an appeal against the conviction of David Brian Dougherty were made to the Court of Appeal on the basis that the presence of the genetic material extracted from the complainant's underpants (identified as allele 3) pointed to the involvement of another person in the commission of the crimes for which David Brian Dougherty had been convicted:

And whereas the only scientific evidence considered by the Court of Appeal in relation to the results obtained by the use of the PCR technique was produced by Dr Peta Stringer:

And whereas on the 2nd day of November 1994, the Court of Appeal declined the application for leave to call new evidence and dismissed David Brian Dougherty's appeal against conviction in the High Court:

And whereas an application, dated the 27th day of March 1996, has been made by David Brian Dougherty for the exercise of the mercy of the Crown in respect of his conviction based upon the review of Dr Peta Stringer's DNA evidence presented to the Court of Appeal conducted by three independent scientists namely: Dr Stephen Jan Gutowski, Manager, Research and Development at the Victoria State Forensic Science Centre, Victoria, Australia; Dr Rebecca Reynolds, Manager, Human Identity Group, Roche Molecular Systems Incorporated, California, United States of America; and Dr Arie Geursen, Director of Resources, Genesis Research and Development Corporation, Auckland, New Zealand:

And whereas the application submits that the independent scientific review of the above-mentioned evidence establishes, among other things, that:

- (a) The DNA readings indicating David Brian Dougherty as the possible contributor to genetic material found on the complainant's underpants and on swabs taken from her body should not have been reported to the Court of Appeal because it is contrary to recognised scientific practice to report PCR test readings of such low intensity and it is likely that these readings arose as a result of factors other than the presence of human genetic material; and
- (b) The results of a number of tests which were conducted on samples taken from the complainant and her clothing and which disclosed certain DNA readings, being results that would have excluded David Brian Dougherty as the source of the DNA material found on those samples, were not reported to the Court of Appeal; and
- (c) There is no reliable genetic evidence in any of the tests conducted on the samples originating from the swabs taken from the complainant that would link David Brian Dougherty to the commission of the crimes for which he has been convicted; and
- (d) David Brian Dougherty is unequivocally excluded from having contributed the stains (identified as seminal fluid) extracted from the complainant's underpants:

And whereas Dr Peta Stringer has reassessed her original interpretation of the DNA evidence presented to the Court of Appeal and has acknowledged that any signals that were of low intensity (i.e., weaker than the control dot) should not have been considered:

And whereas Dr Peta Stringer and the three independent scientists referred to above have reached the same view that both David Brian Dougherty and the complainant are unequivocally excluded from having contributed to the DNA material (identified as allele 3) that was extracted from the complainant's underpants:

And whereas it appears that evidence is available that could lead the Court of Appeal to the conclusion that the scientific evidence presented at the appeal was unsatisfactory and that a miscarriage of justice might have occurred:

Now therefore, pursuant to section 406 (a) of the Crimes Act 1961, His Excellency the Governor-General, acting by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, hereby refers to the Court of Appeal for hearing and determination the question of the conviction of David Brian Dougherty for abduction and sexual violation by rape.

MARIE SHROFF, Clerk of the Executive Council.

Formation—The business unit must be formed by resolution of the council of the local authority (the “parent local authority”).

Operation—The business unit must:

The Commission specifies 22 July 1996 as that date.

Section 70A (3) requires each political party that considers that it will qualify for an allocation of time under section 73 of the Act or of money under section 74A of the Act to notify the Commission in writing by that date.

Section 76 (3) of the Act provides, among other things, that the failure of any political party to give such notice or to comply with any other request of the Commission shall not prevent the Commission from making any allocation of time or money or making any determination and shall not affect the validity of such allocations or determinations.

Under section 70C of the Act, every notice given to the Authority by any party shall state, among other things—

- '(a) The full name of the political party; and

(aa) The name and address of the person providing the notice and the capacity in which he or she provides the notice; and

(ab) Where the person providing the notice is not the Secretary of the political party, the name and address of the Secretary of the political party; and

(b) Details of any relationships that may exist between that political party and any other political parties in New Zealand which the Electoral Commission may need to take into account in allocating time or money to political parties; and

(c) Either—

(i) That the party is registered on the Register of Political Parties; or

(ii) That the party is intending to apply for registration on the Register of Political Parties in order to be registered at least 3 months before the date in that year on which the Parliament is due to expire;³ or

(d) Where the political party considers that it is eligible for an allocation of time and money under section 75 (1) (a) (ii) of this Act,—

(i) The full name of each person who has declared his or her intention of becoming a constituency candidate for that political party at the general election to be held that year; and

(ii) the electoral district for which each person to whom subparagraph (i) of this paragraph applies intends to be a constituency candidate.'

Section 75 (1) of the Act provides criteria with which the Commission is to comply when allocating time or money to a political party. In respect of the election to be held in 1996, the criteria under section 75 (1) (a) have been amended by section 23B (3) of the Broadcasting Amendment Act 1996 so that the Commission shall not allocate any time to a political party under section 73 of the Act or make under section 74A of the Act an allocation of money to any political party unless—

- (i) That party was registered on the Register of Political Parties on the 5th working day after the date of commencement of the Broadcasting Amendment Act 1996; or

(ii) Persons belonging to that party or group of related political parties were, on the 5th working day after the date of commencement of the Broadcasting Amendment Act 1996, deemed, by section 70D of this Act, to be constituency candidates at that general election for at least 5 seats in the House of Representatives.

The Broadcasting Amendment Act 1996 commenced on 1 July 1996.

Section 70D of the Act provides that where a political party states in its notice to the Commission pursuant to section 70C (d) of the Act that a person has declared his or her intention of becoming a constituency candidate at an election, that person shall, until noon on nomination day for that election, be deemed, for the purposes of section 75 (1) (a) (ii) of the Act, to be a candidate at that election, whether that person is nominated or not.

Any political party which wishes to give notice to the Commission should provide 10 copies, addressed to Dr Paul Harris, Chief Executive, Electoral Commission, P.O. Box 3050, Wellington. The Commission is located at Level 6, Greenock House, 39 The Terrace, Wellington. Telephone: (04) 474 0670. Facsimile: (04) 474 0674.

² The 'election period' begins with writ day, and ends with the close of the day preceding polling day (section 69 of the Act).

³ See also section 75 (1) below, concerning provisions in force for the 1996 general election.

Explanatory Note

This note is not part of the notice but is intended to indicate its purpose.

The Broadcasting Standards Authority published a notice in the Gazette on 21 March 1996 pursuant to legislation in effect at that time. That notice invited political parties to give notice to the Authority that they considered they qualified (under different criteria) for allocations of time and money for election programmes.

The Broadcasting Amendment Act 1996 provides in section 23B that any notice given by the Broadcasting Standards Authority after the 1st day of March 1996 and before the date of commencement of that Act, being a notice published in the Gazette under section 70A of the principal Act, shall on the date of commencement of the Broadcasting Amendment Act 1996 cease to be of any legal effect.

The responsibility for the administration of the allocation of time and money to political parties for the broadcasting of election programmes has now passed to the Electoral Commission.

2. That this bylaw shall come into force on the day after the date of its publication in the New Zealand Gazette.

(i) that “chains must be carried” unless the vehicle is carrying a set of chains which can be conveniently fitted to the driving wheels of the vehicle, or

(ii) that “chains must be fitted” unless a set of chains has been fitted to the driving wheels of the vehicle.

6. Nothing in this bylaw shall apply to any vehicle on the said State highway being used by a contractor appointed by Transit New Zealand and undertaking maintenance duties on the State highway.

This bylaw was made by resolution passed at a meeting of Transit New Zealand held in Wellington on the 5th day of June 1996.
