New Zealand Food Standard 1996

Section 11G of the Food Act 1981: New Zealand Food Standard 1996, Amendment No. 2

The New Zealand Food Standard 1996, Amendment No. 2 was issued by the Minister of Health on 14 January 1997. This Standard is available for inspection and copies can be obtained free of charge from the Food and Nutrition Section of the Ministry of Health, 133 Molesworth Street, Wellington. Copies of the material incorporated by reference in this standard, i.e., the Australian Food Standards Code, Amendments No. 32 and No. 33, are also available for inspection by members of the public, free of charge, at the same address.

This amendment incorporates by reference Amendment No. 32 and Amendment No. 33 to the Australian Food Standards Code. The effect of the changes is as follows:

- to include additional food additive code numbers and class names
- to permit sodium stearoyl lactylate in desserts and imitation creams
- to permit neohesperidin dihydrochalcone as a flavour
- to permit ascorbic acid, erythorbic acid and their sodium salts as antioxidants in electrolyte drinks and soft drinks
- to change the labelling requirements for aspartame to provide a warning statement for phenylketonurics
- to include a specification for glycine
- to permit new sources of lipases (enzymes that are processing aids)
- to add whipped thickened cream as a product category
- to permit flavourings in coffee and related products
- a variation to the sunset clause on the permission which allows the sale in Australia of food imported from New Zealand which complies with relevant New Zealand food standards. This change is needed because of the later than anticipated introduction of the Trans-Tasman Mutual Recognition Agreement.

The New Zealand Food Standard 1996, Amendment No. 2, will come into force on the 28th day after the date of this notification.

Notes to Diagram 2

1. The length of the No Stopping Restriction on the departure side may be reduced to a minimum of 6 metres on a one-way carriageway.
2. Where stationary vehicles near a crossing limit visibility between drivers and pedestrians an increase in these distances may be required.
3. The length of the No Stopping Restriction on the approach side may be reduced to a minimum of 6 metres where bulbous kerbs at least 1.8 metres wide or inset parking are provided to ensure adequate visibility. On the departure side, the length of the No Stopping Restriction must be a minimum of 6 metres.
4. If there are also P2 and P2(a) signs installed in advance of the school boundary in accordance with the Manual of Traffic Signs and Markings, the location of such signs must be rationalised so that there is no more than one set of permanent P2 and P2(a) signs erected on any approach to the School Crossing Point.
5. The P2 Flag Signs on each approach should be mounted so that they are clearly visible to approaching drivers from at least 60 metres but do not obscure the school patrol's view of approaching traffic.
6. On one way roads, median divided roads or other locations, the P2 Flag Signs, R29 School Patrol signs and their mounting posts may need to be duplicated on the approaches to the School Crossing Point.
7. The Crossing Point Definition Lines should each extend from the Pedestrian Hold Line, across the kerb or edge of the road to a point approximately 500 mm from the kerb or edge of road. They should therefore each be about 1250 mm long.

Australia New Zealand Food Authority Act 1991

Australia New Zealand Food Authority—Food Standards

The Australia New Zealand Food Authority advises progress on the following applications and proposals for the development or variation of standards in the Food Standards Code (the code). You can get further information on each of these matters in information papers which are available from:

Matters at Full Assessment

The authority has made preliminary assessments, accepted the following applications and will now make full assessments of them.

Residues in Food (A328). An application received from the National Registration Authority for Agricultural and Veterinary Chemicals (NRA) on 27 November 1996 to include an import tolerance for glyphosate on soya beans (dry) on 20 mg/kg which is equivalent to that set by Codex.

Extension of Permitted Forms of Zinc to Include Zinc Oxide (A329). An application from Kellogg (Aust) Pty Limited received on 29 November 1996 seeking to include zinc oxide as a permitted form of zinc for addition to foods.

You are invited to present written submissions to the authority on matters relevant to these applications by 26 February 1997.

Matters before Council

The authority has completed an inquiry into the following matter:

Transitional Arrangements for the Australia New Zealand Food Standards System (P137). In June 1996 the then National Food Authority recommended that the then National Food Standards Council adopt a new Standard T1 - Transitional Arrangements for the Australia New Zealand Food Standards System, to implement the transitional arrangements set out in an Agreement between Australia and New Zealand establishing a system for the development of joint food standards, and to ensure that the Australian food industry was not disadvantaged by those arrangements. The recommendation was made as a matter of urgency in order to avoid compromising the objectives in section 10 of the National Food Authority Act 1991.

The authority has since completed an inquiry into Standard T1, as previously adopted by the council, and recommended that the Australia New Zealand Food Standards Council now adopt Standard T1 with certain variations, including a review of the dual standards permissions in clause 3 of Standard T1, which is to be completed in the first quarter of 1997. The recommendation has since been adopted by the council and therefore Standard T1 will continue to be in force, subject to these new variations.

2. The scheme for which approval is sought, seeks to:

1. (a) Alter the mode of administering the trust by removing the cap "maximum limit of $40,000.00" imposed upon the trust in respect of its reserve fund established by the scheme adopted by the Supreme Court of New Zealand on 25 February 1965; and

(b) Provide that the maximum amount that may be accumulated in the reserve fund is to be determined from time to time by the conference of the Methodist Church of New Zealand, following a recommendation from the trust board after consultation between the trust board and the board of administration of the church. This is on the proviso that the maximum amount fixed at any time may not thereafter be reduced, and that if the amount held in the reserve fund is less than the maximum amount that the trust board may pay into the reserve fund, up to 20 percent of the net annual income of the trust in any one year, provided that the amounts paid shall not exceed the said maximum amount.

2. The trust board also seeks an extension of its powers by varying the existing provisions of the Supreme Court scheme to enable bursaries to be paid to girls and to young women to attend Wesley College at Paerata.

3. Full details of the application and the scheme and a report by the Attorney-General regarding same, are open for inspection by the public without fee or charge at the High Court office in Robe Street, New Plymouth.
