Form for Annual Return

Pursuant to section 214 (7) of the Companies Act 1993 ("the Act"), the Registrar of Companies gives notice that the form below may be used for the purposes of section 214 (1) of the Companies Act 1993, and the particulars contained therein shall be prescribed as the particulars required under that Act.

Explanatory Note

The Registrar of Companies has reviewed the existing prescribed form for annual returns filed pursuant to section 214 (1) of the Act, particularly in light of the technological developments taking place at the Companies Office. Consistent with the Act and these technological changes, it has become both necessary and desirable to modernise and simplify the form presently prescribed in the First Schedule to the Companies Act 1993 Regulations 1994.

The revised form is the outcome of consultation with Companies Office client representatives. It removes requirements that are no longer appropriate or necessary, and includes minor additional information requirements to ensure the currency of information on the companies register.

The new form is optional for Companies Office clients. However, the new, simplified form is expected to reduce errors and compliance costs, and enhance the integrity of the register. It is therefore hoped that clients will adopt the new format. The Registrar of Companies may also still approve the use of an annual return form different from that prescribed, pursuant to section 214 (8).

Dated this 22nd September 1999.

R. M. SOWRY, Minister of Social Services, Work and Income.

A m e n d m e n t s

1. Definitions:

1.1. Clause 3.1 of the programme is amended by inserting, after the definition of the term "Farmer", the following definition:

"Food Grant" means a Grant under clause 11.2.1;

2. Food Grants

2.1. The programme is amended by omitting clauses 11.2.1 and 11.2.2, and substituting the following clauses:

11.2.1 Eligibility for Food Grant: The chief executive may, after making an assessment as to whether clause 11.2.3 applies, make a Grant to purchase food if—

- (a) the Applicant or his or her Immediate Family has an immediate need to purchase food; and
- (b) the Applicant and his or her spouse (if any) have no resources to meet that need, and would otherwise have to rely on a food bank to meet that need; and
- (c) that need, or the lack of resources to meet it, was caused by an essential expense that had to be met and which left insufficient money to buy food; and
- (d) except as provided in clause 11.2.5, neither the Applicant nor any member of his or her Immediate Family has been referred for budgeting advice under this programme within the 52 weeks before the date of the application.

11.2.2 Number and amounts of Food Grants: The chief executive may make more than 1 Food Grant in a 52 Week Period, but unless the chief executive considers there are exceptional circumstances, the chief executive must not make Grants under clause 11.2.1 during a 52 Week Period that exceed in total—

- (a) $200 for an unmarried person with no dependent children;
- (b) $300 for a married couple with no dependent children;
- (c) $450 for a married couple or a sole parent with 1 or 2 dependent children;
- (d) $550 for a married couple or a sole parent with 3 or more dependent children.

11.2.3 Previous multiple Food Grants: This clause applies where—

- (a) an application for a Food Grant is made; and
- (b) 2 or more Grants have, in the 52 weeks before the date of the application, been made under clause 11.2.1 to the Applicants Immediate Family; and
- (c) the chief executive determines that the application has not resulted from a sudden or unforeseen need.

11.2.4 Referral for budgeting advice: If clause 11.2.3 applies, the chief executive, in making a Food Grant, must—

- (a) refer the Applicant for budgeting advice arranged by the chief executive at no cost to the Applicant; and
- (b) advise the Applicant to accept the budgeting advice; and
- (c) advise the Applicant that if the Applicant or any member of his or her Immediate Family makes a further application for a Food Grant within the 52 weeks following payment of the Grant, the application will generally be declined if the Applicant has not taken advantage of the referral for budgeting advice.

11.2.5 Limited eligibility for subsequent Food Grant: No person who is referred for budgeting advice under clause 11.2.4 (a), or any member of his or her Immediate Family, is eligible for a Food Grant within the period of 52 weeks referred to in clause 11.2.4 (c), unless—

- (a) the chief executive is satisfied that the person to whom the referral applies has taken advantage of the referral for budgeting advice; or
- (b) the person to whom the referral applies has, in the opinion of the chief executive, a good and sufficient reason for not taking advantage of the referral for budgeting advice; or
- (c) the chief executive considers that the refusal to make a Food Grant would cause extreme hardship to the Applicant or to a member of the Applicants Immediate Family, and the Applicant agrees in writing to—

- (i) accept an immediate referral for budgeting advice arranged by the chief executive; and
- (ii) take advantage of that referral.

11.2.6 Referral for budgeting advice where Food Grant made on ground of extreme hardship: Where the chief executive makes a Food Grant in the circumstances referred to in clause 11.2.5 (c), the chief executive—

- (a) must, in relation to the Applicant, take the steps in paragraphs (a) to (c) of clause 11.2.4 if the Applicant was not the person to whom the previous referral for budgeting advice applies; or
- (b) otherwise may take those steps in relation to the Applicant.

11.2.7 Interpretation: For the purposes of clauses 11.2.2 to 11.2.6—

- (a) a reference to a Grant under clause 11.2.1 includes a Grant under clause 11.2.1 in the form that it was before 1 October 1999; and
- (b) a person takes advantage of a referral for budgeting advice if the person attends and receives budgeting advice as arranged by the chief executive.

New Zealand Dairy Board

Dairy Board Act 1961

New Zealand Dairy Board

At its meeting on the 24th day of August 1999 the Dairy Board resolved to revoke the access code for the National Dairy Herd Improvement Database as approved by the Dairy Board on 31 March 1994 (Gazette notice No. 2947 of 21 April 1994, No. 36, page 1408) and reissue it with amendments as set out below to take effect from the date of the Gazette notice (board resolution No. 11164).

LLOYD KAVANAGH, Corporate Secretary, New Zealand Dairy Board.

Access Code For the National Dairy Herd Improvement Database

Background

Under the Dairy Board Act 1961 the New Zealand Dairy Board ("NZDB") is charged with the development of the New Zealand dairy industry with a view to maintaining and improving the standard of quality, and expanding production, of the stock or produce derived from that industry, and generally ensuring as far as may be practicable the adoption of measures and practices designed to promote greater efficiency in the dairy industry in furtherance of the interests and welfare of persons engaged in it.

As a consequence, the NZDB initially through its Livestock Improvement Division and subsequently through Livestock Improvement Corporation Limited (LIC) established and continues to maintain a single database, (the "database") now known as the National Dairy Herd Improvement Database, to facilitate the efficient collation, storage and use of information it has acquired on the New Zealand dairy industry generally for the efficient implementation of that industry's herd improvement plan. The database is now an extremely valuable record or library of information which LIC continues to accumulate, hold and use for the benefit of the industry as a whole. It contains among other things, valuable data on mating, calving, identification, location, indicators of genetic merit, production traits, traits other than production for or concerning a large part of that industry. It is intended to continue to enhance and expand that library of data with such other information as may be considered appropriate for those purposes and for the continuing overall benefit of the New Zealand dairy industry.

The database facility is owned by LIC. It has been appointed by NZDB to manage the database and as database manager to be the industry's custodian of that data. LIC has proprietary rights over the information contained in the database as well as having responsibilities for ensuring the integrity and security of the database as a whole and the accuracy, validity and completeness of the information held or derived.

In 1991 the operation of the database was the subject of an extensive review by a committee which included representatives of the New Zealand dairy industry and was chaired by Mr K. J. Macdonald. On the recommendation of that committee, the NZDB established a Dairy Herd Improvement Tribunal (the "tribunal") as an independent body to develop guidelines and conditions for access to the information contained in that database and to mediate on issues referred to it by any party relating to such.

The tribunal developed this access code to set out, among other things, the powers and procedures of the tribunal and to clarify that there shall be no access to the database by any party except in accordance with the access principles set out in this code.

Application for Access to Information

1.1 Any person or entity (the "applicant") may apply for access to the database to the database manager as an individual or as a provider of a service in the form prescribed from time to time by the tribunal to view (which includes to download or copy), add, delete or modify the information in the database. The database manager shall advise the tribunal, in writing, within 3 days of receipt of an application, that it has received an application subject to clauses 1.2 and 1.4 below. The database manager must make its report to the tribunal in terms of clause 1.5 below within 28 days of receipt of an application from the applicant. The database manager's report to the tribunal must describe the data requested by the applicant, the format in which it is sought, any special access requirements, the delivery medium and data and costs that the database manager will incur in processing the application and making the information available.

1.2 Where the database manager determines that it cannot process the application within the 28 day period referred to in clause 1.1, due to additional information being required from the applicant, the database manager will so advise the tribunal, in writing, and seek the information required from the applicant within 28 days of such request to the applicant. Upon receipt of the required information, then the database manager will deal with the application under clause 1.1 above.

1.3 The tribunal will, from time to time, appoint an independent technical expert to assist it in considering applications for access to the database. The database manager may recommend an appropriately qualified person to the tribunal. The tribunal may accept that nomination if it agrees with it or select a person itself. The tribunal will advise the database manager of the person appointed by it as the independent technical expert.

1.4 The independent technical expert will be engaged to assist the tribunal where the database manager considers that an application for access should be rejected or accepted in part only. On those occasions the database manager will, as soon as practicable, contact the independent technical expert and ask that person to provide an independent opinion to the tribunal. The database manager will advise the tribunal in all cases where it contacts the independent expert. In these cases, the report of the database manager will be submitted to the tribunal at the same time as the independent technical expert's. The database manager will request the independent technical expert to provide its opinion, so that the 28 day period referred to in clause 1.1 can be met. If that is not practicable, then the period shall be extended appropriately, so as to allow the independent technical expert to complete its opinion and the database manager will so advise the tribunal of the delay.

1.5 In dealing with any application the tribunal may regulate the process to be followed by the database manager and its own process and may obtain and have regard to the advice or opinions of such persons as it may from time to time decide, but shall decide any application for access solely in accordance with the access principles set out in clause 2. The tribunal may, among other matters, permit the database manager to charge the applicant a fee to recover its costs in relation to dealing with the application and a fee for the information provided together with a fee to recover the costs of the independent technical expert.

1.6 A decision on every access application shall (except in the case of a delegated authority under clause 1.8) be made by the tribunal after consultation with the database manager (and in appropriate cases after having received the independent technical expert's opinion) who shall report whether the application complies with the access principles and recommend that:

- (a) the application be granted;
- (b) the application be rejected;
- (c) the application be accepted in part; or
- (d) the application be subject to conditions.

1.7 Where the database manager makes a recommendation under (b), (c) or (d) above, the tribunal shall:

- (a) make available to the applicant all information which will be taken into account by the tribunal in reaching a decision together with a copy of the independent technical expert's opinion; and
- (b) invite the applicant to submit a written response to the tribunal within 14 days from the date of the recommendation; and
- (c) advise the applicant whether or not they may be heard.

1.8 After the expiry of the 14 days response time, the tribunal:

- (a) may consider any information or factor it considers relevant, provided the applicant has been notified in accordance with clause 1.7 (c);
- (b) shall consider any submission of the applicant made under 1.7;
- (c) may require the applicant to supply information or evidence, additional to that provided in the applicant's submission, to assist in reaching a decision; and
- (d) may seek to consult with the applicant prior to finalising the tribunal's decision in such a manner and at such time as it thinks proper.

1.9 (a) The tribunal may in its discretion delegate to the database manager its decision-making power in respect of any particular application or category of applications subject to such conditions as the tribunal may impose. In such cases, the database manager may decide the application (rather than make applications) in accordance with the provisions of clause 1.8 (a) to (d) inclusive, and in accordance with the access principles and procedures set out in clauses 2.2 and 2.3, or it may refer to the application to the tribunal for its determination as if the delegated authority did not apply. The tribunal may at any time vary or revoke any delegated authority.

(b) The tribunal shall on application being made to it on appeal, provide an independent review of any decision made under any delegated power and deal with and decide the application as if that delegated power had not been given in respect of that application.

1.10 The tribunal may without prior notice revoke any decision or authorisation at any time and that revocation shall have effect forthwith. As soon as practicable after such revocation the tribunal shall give notice of and the reasons for its revocation to the applicant.

The Access Principles

No access without approval

2.1 There shall be no access to the database by any party except as is approved by the tribunal solely in accordance with the following access principles.

2.2 The tribunal may allow access to the database if it is first satisfied that any consequence of that access will advance any of the following objectives:

- (a) the promotion and organisation of the orderly development of the dairy industry in New Zealand;
- (b) the improvement of the standard of quality of the dairy stock in New Zealand;
- (c) the planning, promotion and the carrying out of testing to produce quality stock;
- (d) the development of artificial breeding for the improvement of New Zealand dairy stock;
- (e) the promotion of greater efficiencies in the New Zealand dairy industry in furtherance of the interests and welfare of persons engaged in that industry; or
- (f) the promotion and carrying out of any research or experimental work undertaken in New Zealand or elsewhere with a view to improving the quality of dairy stock in New Zealand.

2.3 In considering an application, the tribunal may then have regard to any of the following:

- (a) the need to respect the commercial sensitivity or confidentiality of the information in the database or the privacy of any provider;
- (b) the integrity or the security of the database, including the accuracy, validity and completeness of any information held within;
- (c) compliance with or the upholding of any condition imposed on the applicant's access to the database;
- (d) the interests of any information supplier to the database to obtain or modify that information; or
- (e) any other factor the tribunal believes is consistent with the objectives of the Dairy Board Act 1961 and any regulations made thereunder.

Good reasons to refuse access

2.4 Without limiting the tribunal's discretion to refuse access after consideration of the objectives in clause 2.2 and having had regard to the factors in clause 2.3, the tribunal may reject an application and refuse access if:

- (a) the application is frivolous or vexatious, or the information requested is trivial; or
- (b) the information requested is not readily retrievable; or
- (c) the information requested is not held in the database, cannot be found, or cannot be severed from other information which is unable to be disclosed; or
- (d) the granting of the application would significantly impair the efficient administration, or be a substantial drain on the resources, of the database manager.

Information to be used only for the purpose requested

2.5 The applicant shall use the information obtained pursuant to any request only for the purposes stipulated in that application and for no other, and shall in each case satisfy the tribunal that access to the database will be only for the purpose for which the application was made.

Publication of research

2.6 Where access has been for research, the applicant shall not without the prior written consent of the database manager publish or disclose any of the results of that research which identifies or is capable of identifying the information which has been accessed from the database and on which the research is based or if such publication or disclosure might in any way compromise any of the access principles. The database manager's consent shall be determined in accordance with the access principles.

Public benefit override

2.7 In any case, the tribunal may on its own application or upon request release information (subject to any conditions that the tribunal thinks fit) from, or refuse access to, the database, where the tribunal is satisfied that access is required for any one or more of the following purposes:

- (a) any criminal proceedings; or
- (b) in the interests of the maintenance or protection of public health or safety.

Conditions of Access

3.1 The tribunal may impose, vary or revoke any conditions it deems appropriate, including without in any way limiting the power of the tribunal:

- (a) an order for the applicant to contribute to or pay any costs which either the database manager or the tribunal may incur arising out of the access application or as a result of any grant of access;
- (b) the time when, and circumstances under which, access should be allowed;
- (c) the frequency of access to be granted or allowed;
- (d) in cases where data are to be provided, the form of any data to be provided, including whether or not it forms part of an existing service offered by the database manager;
- (e) any restrictions or limits on the use, disclosure or publication of information accessed from the database;
- (f) the supply to, and use by, the database manager of any information which is the subject, or is derived as a consequence, of the access application in order to update or correct the database;
- (g) any time limits on the provision of the information;
- (h) any procedures or process for managing any change to the requested information or the database; or
- (i) a requirement that the applicant provide such security, performance bond or undertaking as may be required by the tribunal as a condition of access.

Dispute Resolution

4.1 In addition to its decision-making powers in respect of an application, the tribunal shall also (as the case may require) be empowered to investigate, mediate on, determine, or refer to conciliation or arbitration (subject to clauses 4.2 and 5.1 to 5.3) any issue arising out of an application or more generally relating to access to the database, including any recommendation, charge, term or condition on implementing access or on any amendment to the provisions in the access code.

4.2 If any dispute or difference arises between the applicant, the NZDB, or the database manager as to any matter concerning or arising out of an access application, the parties to the dispute or difference shall in the first instance use their best efforts to resolve their dispute or difference by negotiation. If the dispute or difference is not resolved within 7 days, it shall be referred to the tribunal which may then either refer to conciliation or decide the issue in accordance with its own procedures as a submission to arbitration under the Arbitration Act 1996 and its amendments.

Conciliations

5.1 For the purposes of clause 4.2, "conciliation" means the procedure whereby the Tribunal appoints a conciliator to assist the parties in an independent and impartial manner. The aim of such assistance is to reconcile their views on the dispute or difference in order to reach an amicable settlement or solution. If they are unable to reach such an agreement or solution, the conciliator may formulate the terms of its determination or proposal for a settlement or solution. Such determination or proposal shall be binding on both parties unless within 5 days one party notifies the other that it rejects the conciliator's determination or proposal.

5.2 The conciliation procedure shall be deemed to have terminated:

- (a) by the signing of a settlement agreement by the parties; or
- (b) by a written declaration of one party to the other and to the conciliator that the conciliation is terminated; or
- (c) by a written declaration of one party to the other and to the parties that further efforts at conciliation are no longer justified; or
- (d) by the parties not objecting to the conciliator's determination or proposal within 5 days.

5.3 If the tribunal refers any dispute or difference to conciliation and that process is terminated without agreement having been reached, then the tribunal shall decide the issue by arbitration as described in clause 4.2.

5.4 The applicant shall bear its own costs in respect of any referral to the tribunal.

5.5 The decision of the tribunal shall be final and binding on all parties.

Dated the 24th day of August 1999.

The common seal of New Zealand Dairy Board was hereunto affixed in the presence of:

G. A. FRASER, Director.

J. D. STOREY, Director.

M. D. HAMILTON, Assistant Secretary.
