The anti-dumping duties ceased to be payable on that date, because at that date the goods were not subject to review and 5 years had passed since the date of the final determination* by the Minister of Commerce that the goods were being dumped and were causing material injury to the New Zealand G-clamp industry.

New Zealand Food Standard 2001

Section 11L of the Food Act 1981

The New Zealand Food Standard 2001 was issued by the Minister of Health on 20 December 2000.

The New Zealand Food Standard 2001 recognises changes made by Amendment No. 53 to the Australia New Zealand Food Standards Code ("the Food Standards Code") made under the Australia New Zealand Food Authority Act 1991, an Act of the Australian Parliament.

The Australia New Zealand Food Authority (ANZFA) gazetted Amendment No. 53 in Australia and New Zealand on 20 December 2000.

Amendment No. 53 recognises the Australia New Zealand Food Standards Code as consisting of two alternative volumes:

Volume 1 is commonly known as the Australia New Zealand Food Standards Code ("the joint code").

Volume 2 as the Australian Food Standards Code (AFSC).

The New Zealand Food Standard 2001 also revokes all previous food standards issued under the Food Act 1981, except for:

- The New Zealand (Mandatory) Food Standard 1997;
- The New Zealand (Maximum Residue Limits of Agricultural Compounds) Mandatory Food Standard 1999 (and all its amendments);
- Any emergency food standards that are in effect when the New Zealand Food Standard 2001 commences.

In effect, the New Zealand Food Standard 2001 consolidates the New Zealand Food Standard 1996 and its amendments.

The New Zealand Food Standard 2001 and the material incorporated into it by reference, i.e. the Food Standards Code up to and including Amendment No. 53, is available for inspection at the Ministry of Health, 133 Molesworth Street, Wellington.

New Zealand Public Health and Disability Act 2000

Authorisation of the New Zealand Blood Service to Perform Certain Functions

Under section 55 (1) (c) of the New Zealand Public Health and Disability Act 2000, I authorise the New Zealand Blood Service to perform the functions specified in the First Schedule to this authorisation.

This authorisation is subject to the terms and conditions specified in the Second Schedule to this authorisation and is effective from 1 January 2001.

First Schedule

The New Zealand Blood Service is authorised to perform the following functions:

- To collect, process, accredit, store, and distribute bone and skin.
- To receive, process, accredit, and store sperm from identified consumers whose treatment poses fertility risks and to return the identified consumer's sperm to the identified consumer upon their request subject to clause (a) of the Second Schedule to this authorisation.
- To carry out therapeutic procedures relating to a consumer's blood including collecting, processing, testing, and disposing of such blood.
- To collect, process, accredit, store, return for use, and dispose of autologous blood or autologous controlled human substances.
- To collect, process, accredit, store, distribute, and dispose of directed blood or directed controlled human substances. For the purposes of this clause, "directed blood" or "directed controlled human substances" means blood or controlled human substances collected from individuals (e.g. family members) who have been solicited by the intended recipient or by someone else (e.g. a mother requesting that her blood be used for her baby's transfusion treatment).

Nothing in this authorisation prevents the New Zealand Blood Service from charging reasonable fees for services provided in relation to the above functions. It should be noted that the core blood supply system, as part of its functions under section 55 (1) (a) and (b) of the New Zealand Public Health and Disability Act 2000, is fully subsidised.

Second Schedule

Terms and conditions of this authorisation:

- The functions specified in clause (b) of the First Schedule to this authorisation are temporary functions that will be devolved to a third party or parties on or before 1 July 2001 at which time the New Zealand Blood Service shall inform the Minister of Health in writing of the third party or parties to whom these functions have been devolved.
- While carrying out the functions as specified in the First Schedule of this authorisation, the New Zealand Blood Service shall ensure those functions are carried out safely and to a level of high quality, and shall take all reasonable precautions with a view to ensuring that the blood, controlled human substances, bone, skin, and sperm are safe for use.
- The New Zealand Blood Service shall ensure that its authorised agents, its employees, and the employees of its agents, have appropriate skills and expertise, and use those skills and that expertise when carrying out the functions under this authorisation.
- The New Zealand Blood Service shall ensure that high quality systems are in place to efficiently monitor and trace the blood, controlled human substances, bone, skin, and sperm.
- The New Zealand Blood Service shall strive for efficiency in carrying out the functions for which it is responsible under this appointment, without compromising quality or safety.
- The New Zealand Blood Service shall consult with the Ministry of Health on issues having, or likely to have, substantial effects on consumers, or on the ability of the New Zealand Blood Service to carry out its functions under this authorisation or to comply with these terms and conditions. Where the likelihood of such issues is not foreseen by the New Zealand Blood Service, or where the issues come to the attention of the New Zealand Blood Service after the event, the consultation shall be as soon as reasonably practicable afterwards.
- The New Zealand Blood Service shall continue to develop relationships with interested parties and consumer groups to facilitate communication, co-operation, and community appreciation of the services it provides or arranges for the purposes of its functions under this authorisation.

(h) The New Zealand Blood Service shall ensure that it keeps up with developments and new technologies that relate to the services it provides and arranges for the purposes of its functions under this authorisation, and that it fully considers introduction of these developments and technologies.

(i) The New Zealand Blood Service shall ensure that, in carrying out the functions specified in this authorisation, it does not compromise its functions set out under sections 55 (1) (a) or (b) of the New Zealand Public Health and Disability Act 2000.

Dated at Wellington this 20th day of December 2000.

ANNETTE FAYE KING, Minister of Health.

Explanatory Note:

This note is not part of the authorisation, but is intended to indicate its general effect.

This authorisation of the Minister of Health, which comes into force on 1 January 2001, sets out functions that the New Zealand Blood Service Limited currently performs (beyond those functions in section 55 (1) (a) and (b) of the New Zealand Public Health and Disability Act 2000), and that for continuity the new Crown entity, the New Zealand Blood Service, must continue to perform.

Social Policy

Social Security Act 1964

Disability Assistance Programme

Pursuant to section 124 (1) (d) of the Social Security Act 1964, the Minister of Social Services and Employment establishes and approves the following welfare programme for special assistance.

Dated at Wellington this 18th day of December 2000.

STEVE MAHAREY, Minister of Social Services and Employment.

Programme

- 1. Title—This is the Disability Assistance Programme.
- 2. Commencement—This programme comes into effect on 1 January 2001.
- 3. Purpose—The purpose of this programme is:
- to provide non-recoverable financial assistance to persons who would otherwise be eligible for a disability allowance under the Act if the income limits for that allowance were increased by 4.25%; and
 - to ensure that the financial assistance set out in paragraph (a) is provided within the limits and for the reasons prescribed.
- 4. Interpretation—(1) In this programme, unless the context otherwise requires—
- Act means the Social Security Act 1964;
- disability allowance means a disability allowance under section 69C of the Act;
- former programme means the Disability Assistance welfare programme established and approved on 27 March 2000;
- income means income within the meaning of section 3 (1) of the Act modified in accordance with section 69C (1) (c) of the Act;
- payment means a disability assistance payment, being the special assistance under this programme.
- (2) Expressions otherwise defined in section 3 (1) of the Act have the meanings so defined.
- 5. Application of the Social Security Act—(1) Sections 3, 12, 62, 63, 64, 66, 66A, 66B, 68, 68A, 69H, 70, 71, 73, 74, 74A, 76, 77, 78, 80A, 81, 82 (except 82 (6)), 84, and 86J of the Act apply to this programme as if the special assistance under it were a benefit.
- (2) Nothing in subclause (1) affects or limits any other section of the Act.
- 6. Disability assistance payment: eligibility—The chief executive may, on and after 1 January 2001, from time to time grant a disability assistance payment to any person who—
- would otherwise qualify for a disability allowance but for the amount of his or her income; and
 - would qualify for a disability allowance if that income were reduced by 4.25%.
- 7. Disability assistance payment: rate—The amount of a payment on a weekly basis is the amount per week of a disability allowance that the person would from time to time receive if the person were qualified to receive a disability allowance.
- 8. Beginning and end of payments—Payments may be granted on and from the later of—
- the date the person became qualified for them; or
 - the date the application for them was received.
- (2) Despite subclause (1), payments for a person who was in receipt of disability assistance payments under the former programme may be granted without application on and from the first pay day after 1 January 2001.
- (3) Grants of payments cease on the date the person—
- would cease to be qualified to receive a disability allowance for some reason other than the amount of his or her income; or
 - becomes qualified to receive and is granted a disability allowance; or
 - ceases to be eligible to be granted a payment under clause 6.

9. Revocation—The approval of the former programme is revoked.

Explanatory Note

This note is not part of the programme, but is intended to explain its general effect.

This programme provides for special assistance payments equivalent to the amount of a disability allowance for certain people who are otherwise qualified for a disability allowance but for the amount of their income.

The programme effectively increases the income limits for disability allowance by 4.25%, with payments under the programme substituted for the disability allowance.

The programme commences on 1 January 2001.
