Consumer AffairsElectricity Regulations 1997*Notice of Prohibition of the Manufacture, Importation, Sale, Installation or Use of a Butterfly Shaped Nightlight : Prohibition of a Particular Nightlight

Pursuant to Regulation 102 of the Electricity Regulations 1997 ("the Regulations"), and acting under delegated authority of the Chief Executive Officer of the Ministry of Economic Development pursuant to section 41 of the State Sector Act 1988, I, Graham Boxall, Manager Operations, Energy Safety Services, hereby notify that the following nightlight as described below is prohibited from manufacture, importation, sale, installation or use in New Zealand for the following reasons.

This prohibition is to take effect on and from Friday, 13 July 2001.

Description

A child appealing lamp in the form of a butterfly, with a width of 100mm and having an on/off switch on the right-hand side of the butterfly, used as a nightlight.

A 3-pin plug is attached at the back of the butterfly.

Make and manufacturer unknown.

Details of Hazard

On heating, the outer plastic moulding melted near the top end of the lamp. This resulted in exposed live electrical parts.

The nightlight is therefore deemed to be a potential fire hazard and an electrical shock hazard.

When tested the lamp failed the glow wire and needle flame tests.

Reasons for Prohibition

The lamp fails to comply with the following of the Electricity Regulations 1997:

1. Regulation 69 which requires lamps such as this, to be designed and constructed so as to be electrically safe;
2. Regulation 76 (2) (a) which deems an electrical appliance not to be electrically safe for the purpose of Regulation 69 where in normal use, or in the event of an abnormal operation, they function unsafely so as to cause danger to persons, property or animals; and
3. Regulation 76 (2) (b) which deems an electrical appliance not to be electrically safe for the purpose of Regulation 69 where they are designed for use at 230 volts between phase and neutral but are not clearly marked that they are for use at 230 volts or at a voltage range between that includes 230 volts.

Accordingly, I issue this prohibition.

Signed this 2nd day of July 2001.

GRAHAM BOXALL, Manager, Operations, Energy Safety Services.

Ngāi Tahu Claims Settlement Act 1998

Notice From Ngāi Tahu Ancillary Claims Trust Are You a Descendant?

On 21 November 1997, the Crown and Te Rūnanga O Ngāi Tahu entered into a Deed of Settlement, setting out the terms of the settlement reached to give effect to the claims made by Te Rūnanga O Ngāi Tahu.

The major part of the settlement was related to the main claim on behalf of the Ngāi Tahu iwi.

However, minor claims that related to individual hapu or whanau were set aside and responsibility given to a special Trust set up for the purpose to vest these minor claims in the descendants of the original owners of the land or fisheries reserves alienated in some cases over 100 years ago.

Ancillary Claim Properties

There are 32 individual claim properties, 9 of which are all based on customary fishing areas.

The total assessed value of the 32 properties is a little over $1,000,000.00, but the cultural value is of lasting significance to Ngāi Tahu descendants.

Research

The Ancillary Claims Trust was established in November 1998 and, since then, the priority has been to carry out the necessary research to establish the original owners.

This research has now been completed and this notice is the first of three notices to locate the descendants of the original owners in three groups of areas.

Properties to be Vested

The claim properties are being dealt with in this first batch, are all customary fishing claims in the North and South Canterbury districts.
