Explanatory Note:

This note is not part of the Amendment, but is intended to explain its general effect.

This Amendment to the Special Needs Grants Programme, under section 124 (1) (d) of the Social Security Act 1964, continues indefinitely the availability of special needs grants to certain people who are not New Zealand residents and who have lost the support of their partners because of the partner’s domestic violence, and extends eligibility on that ground to persons who married or entered into a relationship in the nature of marriage after they came to New Zealand.

It also makes amendments to clause 17 of the programme that are consequential on Part 3 of the Social Security Amendment Act 2001. Beneficiaries who are sanctioned with a non-entitlement period for a third failure to comply with a work test obligation may participate in a re-compliance programme and are eligible immediately for a conditional benefit, making the availability of a special needs grant unnecessary. The amendments remove the provisions that reference a non-entitlement period.

In addition, clause 17.1.1 (a) was removed in error in its entirety by a previous amendment to the programme. This Amendment reinstates eligibility to be considered for a special needs grant for a person whose spouse is not entitled to a benefit because of a benefit stand down.

Ngāi Tahu Claims Settlement Act 1998

Background

On 21 November 1997, the Crown and Te Rūnanga O Ngāi Tahu entered into a Deed of Settlement, setting out the terms of the settlement reached to give effect to the claims made by Te Rūnanga O Ngāi Tahu. The major part of the settlement was related to the main claim on behalf of the Ngāi Tahu iwi. However, minor claims that related to individual hapu or whanau were set aside and responsibility given to a special Trust set up for the purpose to vest these minor claims in the descendants of the original owners of the land or fisheries reserves alienated in some cases over 100 years ago.

Ancillary Claim Properties

There are 32 individual claim properties, 9 of which are all based on customary fishing areas. The total assessed value of the 32 properties is a little over $1,000,000.00, but the cultural value is of lasting significance to Ngāi Tahu descendants.

Research

The Ancillary Claims Trust was established in November 1998 and, since then, the priority has been to carry out the necessary research to establish the original owners. This research has now been completed and this notice is the first of three notices to locate the descendants of the original owners in three groups of areas.

Properties to be Vested

The claim properties being dealt with in this first batch are ancillary claims in Otago (Otagou) and Southland (Murihiku). Please note that the following reserves are compensation lands. They differ from the reserves of the same name found in the Māori Land Court Records.

Energy Efficiency and Conservation Act 2000

Strategy to Improve Energy Efficiency/Conservation and to Promote the Use of Renewable Energy

The National Energy Efficiency and Conservation Strategy was released by the Minister of Energy on 27 September 2001.

This is New Zealand's first National Energy Efficiency and Conservation Strategy, prepared as a requirement of the Energy Efficiency and Conservation Act 2000.

The Minister of Energy released a draft Strategy in March 2001 after widespread consultation.

Further consultation and 339 submissions contributed to the final Strategy.

The Strategy is organised around policies, objectives and targets, supported by a set of means (or measures) for each of the 5 Strategy sectors:

- Central and local government
- Energy supply
- Industry
- Buildings and appliances
- Transport

The Strategy sets 2 specific targets:

1. A 20% improvement in energy efficiency by 2012.
2. Increasing the use of renewable energy by a further 25 to 55PJ by 2012.

Further analysis and consultation will be undertaken over the next 9 months to refine the target for renewable energy, and to choose appropriate mechanisms to achieve the target. The Strategy lists a number of possible mechanisms. The major changes made to the draft Strategy were quantifying the range for the renewables target and refining the measures for each of the 5 sector programmes.

This included specifying detailed action plans for each programme. A number of the measures in the Strategy require further development before they are implemented.

The Strategy will help us to create a sustainable energy future that will provide all New Zealanders with economic, social and environmental benefits. It will also assist us to meet our international climate change commitments.

Copies of the Strategy will be available from 1 October 2001 from:

- Energy Efficiency and Conservation Authority (EECA) web site (www.eeca.govt.nz).
- Ministry for the Environment web site (www.mfe.govt.nz).
