Broadcasting Act 1989

Allocations of Broadcasting Time and Funds for the 2005 General Election

Notices are sought from political parties which consider themselves qualified for an allocation of broadcasting time or for an allocation of money appropriated by Parliament for the purpose of broadcasting election programmes at the 2005 General Election.

Introduction

The Broadcasting Act 1989 (section references are to sections in that Act), describes the responsibilities of the Electoral Commission ("Commission") to allocate time and money to eligible political parties to enable them to broadcast election programmes during an election period.

The "election period" at an election is defined in section 69 as the period beginning with writ day and ending with the close of the day preceding polling day.

The Commission allocates to eligible political parties:

- (a) the time that is made available by TVNZ and Radio New Zealand free of charge, in response to the requirement that each of them supply the Commission with a statement of the amount of such time that will be made available for the broadcasting of opening addresses and closing addresses.
- (b) the money that is appropriated by Parliament for the purpose of enabling those parties to meet all or part of the costs of broadcasting election programmes during the election period.

Eligibility Criteria

Section 75 (1) provides that the Commission must not allocate any time to a political party under section 73, or make an allocation of money under 74A of the Act, in respect of an election period unless:

- (a) that party was registered on the Register of Political Parties at the time of the dissolution of Parliament for the election or, as the case requires, at the time that Parliament expired; and
- (b) that party has given to the Commission, in relation to that election, a notice that complies with the requirements of sections 70A (3), 70B and 70C.

Section 75 (2) sets out the matters which the Commission is to have regard to when allocating time or money to a political party at a general election.

The date of the dissolution of Parliament for the general election will not be known until closer to the date of the general election.

Parties to Give Notice of Eligibility

Section 70A (1) requires the Commission to specify, by notice in the New Zealand Gazette, a date by which any political party that considers that it will qualify for an allocation of time under section 73 or of money under section 74A in respect of the election period that will apply for the 2005 General Election, must notify the Commission in writing that it considers itself to be so qualified.

The Commission specifies Wednesday, 9 February 2005 as that date.

Section 70A (3) requires each political party that considers that it will so qualify to notify the Commission in writing that it considers itself to be so qualified.

The notice must be given to the Commission not later than the date specified in this notice, i.e. 9 February 2005 (section 70B).

How Parties Give Notice

A notice may be given by mail, courier, facsimile or email, or it can be delivered by hand to the Commission's office.

Contents of Notice

Under section 70C, every notice given to the Commission must state, among other things:

- (a) the full name of the political party; and
- (b) the name and address of the person providing the notice and the capacity in which he or she provides the notice; and
- (c) where the person providing the notice is not the secretary of the political party, the name and address of the secretary of the political party; ...
- (e) details of any relationships that may exist between that political party and any other political parties in New Zealand which the Commission may need to take into account in allocating time or money to political parties; and
- (f) either:
 - (i) that the party is registered on the Register of Political Parties; or
 - (ii) that the party is intending to apply for registration on the Register of Political Parties in order to be registered at the date of dissolution or expiry of Parliament; and
- (g) whether or not the political party intends to submit a list under section 127 of the Electoral Act 1993 for the general election to be held in that year.

The current Parliament is due to expire on 14 August 2005.

4. Pursuant to section 172Z (4) of the Electricity Act 1992, the reasons for my decision to amend the Rules are that:

- I consider that the insertion of the grid investment test as a Schedule to section III of Part F of the Rules is the most appropriate grid investment test, as determined by the Electricity Commission ("Commission"), to be applied by:

- the Commission in developing grid reliability standards;
- Transpower, to determine proposed economic investments for inclusion in the proposed grid upgrade plan;
- the Commission, to review and approve reliability investments and economic investments; and

Recommendation

Section 172E (2) (c) of the Act provides that, no later than 10 working days after making a recommendation concerning the Rules to the Minister of Energy ("Minister"), the Commission must publicise the recommendation and the assessment completed under section 172F of the Act.

The Commission made a recommendation to the Minister on 17 December 2004, to include, as a Schedule to section III of Part F of the Rules, the grid investment test.

- the Commission in developing grid reliability standards;
- Transpower, to determine proposed economic investments for inclusion in the proposed grid upgrade plan;

Notice of Making of a Recommendation Concerning the Electricity Governance Rules – Rule Amendment Proposal No. 50

This notice of a recommendation concerning the Electricity Governance Rules 2003 (“Rules”), Rule Amendment Proposal No. 50, is issued by the Electricity Commission (“Commission”), established under the Electricity Act 1992 (“Act”), pursuant to section 172E (2) (c) of that Act.
