[No. 15.]

PUBLIC RECEPTION OF HIS EXCELLENCY SIR GEORGE F. BOWEN, G.C.M.G.

Superintendent's Office,
Auckland, 23rd March, 1868.

THE Superintendent notifies that he has received, by the s.s. 'Ahuriri,' which arrived from Wellington this morning, a communication from His Excellency SIR GEORGE F. BOWEN, of date the 18th instant, from which the following extract is published for general information:—

"We certainly leave this by the 'Wellington,' on Saturday "at 3 p.m., so that we expect to reach Auckland early on Tuesday the "24th."

The public landing of His Excellency will take place to-morrow (TUESDAY), at an hour which will be appointed, and notified, after the arrival of the s.s. 'Wellington.'

The Offices of the Provincial Government will be closed during the day.

J. WILLIAMSON,

Superintendent.

The first part of the document discusses the general principles of the proposed system. It outlines the objectives and the scope of the project, which is aimed at improving the efficiency of the administrative process. The document is divided into several sections, each dealing with a specific aspect of the system.

The second part of the document provides a detailed description of the system's components. It includes a list of the various modules and their functions, as well as a flowchart illustrating the overall structure of the system. The flowchart shows how the different modules are interconnected and how they work together to achieve the system's goals.

The third part of the document discusses the implementation of the system. It describes the steps that need to be taken to ensure a smooth transition from the current system to the proposed one. This includes identifying the resources required, the timeline for implementation, and the roles and responsibilities of the various stakeholders involved.

The final part of the document concludes with a summary of the key findings and recommendations. It emphasizes the importance of careful planning and execution in the implementation of the system, and provides a list of suggestions for further research and development.
