PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY.

PUBLIC NOTIFICATION.

Superintendent's Office,
Auckland, 18th May, 1868.

IT is notified, for general information, that THURSDAY next, the 28th instant, will be observed as a Holiday at the Provincial Government Offices, in commemoration of the Birthday of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen; and the Inhabitants of Auckland are hereby invited to join in celebrating the usual Public Holiday on that day.

ROBT. J. CREIGHTON,
Provincial Secretary.

NEW ZEALAND FLAX.

Superintendent's Office,
Auckland, 15th May, 1868.

THE Superintendent has directed the following Correspondence, in reference to supplying the dried leaves of the New Zealand Flax (Phormium Tenax) for shipment, to be published for general information.

ROBT. J. CREIGHTON,
Provincial Secretary.

Auckland, 15th May, 1868.

SIR,—I beg to call your Honor's attention to the enclosed letter, and sample of brown paper made from our native flax, (Phormium Tenax).

If the views suggested in that letter can be carried out,—and I see nothing to prevent it,—then there is a boundless market open for our flax in its raw state, both in Australia and England; while gathering, drying, and pressing the flax leaf, in the neighbourhood of our ports, may afford employment to hundreds of persons, including those who are striving to improve their lands in the new settlements.

I have, &c.,

JOHN McLEOD.

John Williamson, Esq.,
Superintendent, Auckland.

Australian Paper Co.'s Stores,
13, Queen's Place, Sydney,
26th March, 1868.

SIR,—You will excuse me writing to you, but hearing from Mr. ———, that you had been in Sydney lately, and that he had spoken to you on the subject of New Zealand Flax, and told me that you had great facilities for procuring the same in quantities and very cheap, I take the earliest opportunity of addressing you on the subject. I have made many experiments with this Flax, and have at last, with little expense, succeeded in extracting the gum, and by gas bleaching make it perfectly white, preserving the fibre suitable for making all kinds of paper, especially when mixed with rags, rope, &c. I have the pleasure of enclosing you a small sample brown paper, made from one-third New Zealand flax and two-thirds common bagging. I omitted to tell you that I have been connected with the Australian Paper Company for the last three years, and am now buying material for them.

Some two years ago, a Captain brought up, on spec, about seven tons of dried New Zealand flax, which, not being thoroughly dried, got heated and mouldy, and was bought by the Company for a mere trifle. This is now all being successfully worked up, and I have no doubt I could sell the Company thirty tons per month, if it could be obtained cheap enough. My cousin, who has been in New Zealand, and been at your place on his way from Auckland to Port Albert, informs me that, from the quantities of New Zealand flax on your estate, and also the facilities you could command in cutting and shipping it, I thought it better to write to you in the first instance, to ascertain if you felt disposed, and it would be convenient for you, to enter into a contract for supplying the flax, thoroughly dried and pressed into bales, and at what price per ton you would be able to deliver it here, Melbourne, and London. It is probable that in a very short time I shall have a contract for supplying the mill here with flax, say thirty tons per month, and also the one at Melbourne. I have also received, per this mail, advices as to value of the samples I sent home to England, and a large house in London is very anxious to receive a ton as a sample; when, after testing it thoroughly, a large quantity will be wanted. In the English market we shall have to compete with the "Asparto Grass," which can be bought in Spain for £3 per ton, freight 20s., and which does not waste so much as the New Zealand flax, therefore the main point is for your consideration.—Can you deliver large quantities, including freight, at £3 per ton here and Melbourne, and what would be the lowest price for a quantity delivered in London? We can sometimes get freight here as low as 30s. per ton, weight, net measurement, to London, when the wool season is all over, and imagine you could get it from Auckland at the same rate, if 200 or 300 tons were sent. As I am anxious that the firm in London should receive the sample ton they have written for, I should be glad to know if you could cut me a ton, dry it, press it and bale it, and direct it as follows, freight paid in London, if not more than £3 to £4 per ton freight. By supplying the above information per return steamer, you will greatly oblige,

Yours most respectfully,

O. W. RAWSON.

In your reply to this, please address P. O. Sydney.

P. S. The flax I have referred to is simply the dried green leaf of the New Zealand flax plant, pressed into bales.

You will oblige by answering these questions as early as convenient, pro or con, and, should you decline going into it, could you recommend a party that would?

O. W. R.

Mr. J. McLeod,
Kaipara, New Zealand.
