GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

BY-LAWS for the GUIDANCE of the LYTTELTON MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

1. The Municipal Council shall assemble for the dispatch of business on Friday in each week, such day not being New Year's day, Christmas day, Good Friday, the Queen's Birthday, or the Anniversary of the Settlement.

2. The hour of meeting shall be seven o'clock in the evening, unless some other hour shall have been appointed by a vote of the Council.

3. In the event of a sufficient number of members to form a quorum not attending within half an hour appointed for their meeting, the Council shall stand adjourned to the following Friday.

4. It shall be lawful for the Chairman to call an extraordinary meeting of the Council whenever he shall think it necessary for the public service, and in such case shall cause notice to be given at the residence of the members, giving the longest possible notice.

5. After a Board of Council is formed, it shall not be adjourned, except on the vote of the majority of the members present.

6. As soon as a sufficient number of members to form a quorum shall have assembled, the Chair shall be taken, and the Clerk of the Council shall enter in the minutes the names of the members present at the assembling of the Council; and in case any other member shall take his seat subsequent to the assembling of the Council, the Clerk of the Council shall enter the name of such member in the proper place in the minutes.

7. Before the Council shall proceed to any other business, the minutes of the last preceding meeting, as taken by the Clerk, shall be read over by him, and shall consist of a detail of the proceedings and the result thereof. The Clerk shall likewise read over, for the approval of the Council, his rough minutes before each adjournment.

8. If any member shall be desirous of making any correction of the minutes, he shall propose such correction immediately after the minutes are read, and such correction shall be forthwith admitted or rejected by the Council.

9. After the minutes shall have been read, and the corrections (if any) made, the question shall be forthwith put from the chair that the minutes of the preceding meeting be confirmed.

10. All propositions shall be submitted to the Council by way of motion, after notice at previous sitting, and every motion shall be reduced to writing by the Clerk of the Council. Any motion submitted to the Council by any member must be seconded, and, unless so seconded, it shall be considered as lost, and a note thereof shall be entered in the minutes.

11. Any member shall be at liberty to propose the amendments of any proposition, provided that such amendment shall not be contradictory to, or unconnected with the general object of the original proposition. The objection shall be decided by the Chairman previously to putting the question or the amendment.

12. The Council may, upon the proposition of any member, appoint a Committee to inquire and report respecting any matter before the Council, or for any other purpose which he may think necessary for the information of the Council in the proper discharge of its duties. The number of such Committee and the members of which the same shall consist shall in all cases be determined by the Council; and such Committee shall, before proceeding to business, elect its Chairman, and such Committee may continue sitting from day to day, or with such adjournment as they may find convenient, until they have completed the object for which they were appointed, and the minutes of such Committee shall be kept, and its reports shall be signed by the Chairman.

13. The Council may, upon the motion of any member, resolve itself into a Committee of the whole Council, and the minutes shall be kept and entered by the Clerk in the minutes of the Council in such manner and under such regulations as are hereinbefore mentioned, and no other report of such proceedings shall be made unless expressly so directed. Reports of the Committee of the whole Council, when expressly directed to be made, shall be signed by the Clerk.

14. In speaking to any proposition under consideration of the Council, the following rules are to be strictly observed:—Every member is to address his observations to the Chairman, and he is to speak in his place, standing. He is not to be interrupted, unless he is out of order. When he has finished his observations he will resume his seat, and any other member wishing to address the Council will rise. If two or more members rise at the same time, the Chairman will call on the member who first catches his eye. Every member must confine his observations to the subject under consideration. No member shall impute improper motives to any other member. All personalities are to be avoided. No member shall speak more than once on any proposition before the Council, except in explanation, or to order, or when the Council is in Committee. The mover of any proposition may, however, reply after all the other members present shall have had an opportunity of making their observations, and before the motion is put. Any member of the Council deviating from the rules may be immediately called to order by the Chairman, or any other member of the Council; and if any dispute arises as to whether the member is or is not in order, that question shall be decided by the Chairman or presiding member.

15. Every proposition once submitted to the Council shall be disposed of before any other question is entertained; but the rule shall not be construed to extend to the exclusion of motions for amendment, or motions for adjourning the consideration of any subject, or for the adjournment of the Council, which may be made at any time, and which shall be immediately decided upon.

16. When the debate upon a motion shall be concluded, the Council shall proceed to vote thereon; and if a division be called, the Clerk of the Council shall collect the votes by calling over the name of every member present, and every member shall, upon his name being called over, give his vote in the distinct term 'Aye' for, or 'No' against the motion, and after having taken the votes, the Clerk of the Council shall hand the record to the Chairman, who shall declare the result. The Clerk shall enter the same in the minutes, distinguishing the name and vote of each member.

17. No communications to the Council, except communications made through the Chairman or by a member, shall be received, unless addressed in the form of a petition or memorial, which must be presented by some member, who shall be responsible that the same is framed in respectful terms.

18. On the presentation of any petition or memorial, the member presenting the same may, without any previous notice, move that the same be ordered to lie on the table.

19. All papers laid before the Council shall be deposited with the Clerk, who shall be responsible for the safe custody thereof, and shall have all such papers ready to be produced before the Council whenever the same may be required by any member, and such papers shall at all times be open to the inspection and perusal of any member of the Council.

20. Any motion for the suspension of any of the standing rules of the Council may be made at any time without prior notice thereof, and such motion shall be decided upon immediately, and be lost, unless five members voting thereon shall vote in favour of such suspension.

21. Previously to any proposition being made to the Council for the raising or disposing of public moneys, or resolution being offered whereby any expenditure of the public moneys may be directly or indirectly authorised or approved, a copy of the resolution intended to be proposed shall be submitted to the Council at a prior meeting at least five days before the meeting whereat the same shall be proposed, together with all papers, documents, and estimates whereon such motion may be founded, and all such papers, documents and estimates shall be lodged with the Clerk of the Council. All payments to be made by cheque, signed after vote of the Council by the Chairman and two members, and countersigned by the Clerk.

22. Wherever any number of days are mentioned in the standing rules of the Council, the same shall be construed and taken to be as so many days exclusive of Sundays and general holidays.

23. All officers and servants of the Council shall be elected by ballot.

24. The meetings of the Council, except when otherwise ordered, shall be open to the public.

RULES FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF COMMITTEES OF THE COUNCIL.

1. Whenever any Committee shall be appointed at any meeting of the Council, the members of such Committee shall assemble in the Council-room immediately after the adjournment of the Council, and shall then appoint some day not later than five days after, for the meeting of the Committee, in order to proceed to business.

2. At the first meeting of the Committee for business, the Committee shall proceed in the first place to elect a Chairman.

3. All documents and papers laid before any Committee shall at any adjournment of the Committee be considered to be in the custody of the Chairman of such Committee, who shall be responsible for their safety.

4. It shall be competent to the Chairman of any Committee, with the assent of the Committee, to direct that the Committee sit with closed doors.

5. All questions in Committee shall be decided by a majority of votes, the Chairman always having an original vote; and in case of an equality of votes, also a casting vote.

6. Every Committee shall have power to report from time to time to the Council in any case in which the Committee may deem it expedient to do so.

7. All reports of Committees shall be prepared by the Chairman of such Committees respectively.

8. All reports shall be read in Committee before they shall be approved and signed. It shall be competent to any member to move an amendment on such report, and such amendment, if approved, by a majority of votes, shall be adopted and inserted in the report.

9. Any member of Committee dissenting from the opinion of the majority of the Committee, may deliver to the Chairman a written statement of his reasons for such dissent, and such statement shall be received by the Chairman and appended to the report.

10. Every Committee shall make their final report upon the matter referred to them within one month after their appointment, unless the time shall be enlarged by the Council.

I hereby signify my assent to the foregoing By-laws.
