Three months ago I fully expected to have been able to pronounce the district again free from scab. However, it will be seen by the return that there are still three flocks which have not had clean certificates granted to them, although believed to be clean, but owing to the difficulty attending a clean muster, the owners of the two principal flocks have agreed with me to delay the inspection till after sheering, when I have every reason to believe that I will be able to pronounce them clean.

SHEEP INSPECTOR'S REPORT—continued.

A decided improvement in the class of sheep can be seen throughout the district. Flockowners are turning their attention to quality in preference to quantity. There has been an unusual increase of lambs this year, and a good clip of wool generally expected.

I find that the returns having been made in January instead of May has made a material difference in the number of sheep returned. The greater portion of last year's lambs did not class as six months' old sheep, as required by the Act, consequently have not been included in the returns for the present year.

Rangitikei, 29th November, 1873.

ROBERT K. SIMPSON,
Inspector of Sheep.
